School leaves artifacts to historic society

With the school scheduled to be closed at the end of the current school year, Mt. Pleasant Elementary pupils, faculty and administration plan to leave artifacts and other pertinent school data to the Romulus Historical Society.

"Over the years our kids have gathered a wide range of newspaper articles and stores about the school," said Mt. Pleasant principal Harold Cannon who served as the K-6 school's initial principal 16 years ago and will unfortunately serve as its last. "We plan to donate all of these artifacts in the form of a scrapbook to the society."

Cannon, who was named principal of the high school 16 years ago, but left briefly for three years before being reappointed to the post, said that he is saddened by the school closing, "but understands the realities behind the decision."

Mt. Pleasant and Beverly are being closed for financial reasons. The school board figures that it could save the district about $240,000.

Rotary donates $150 to kids

The Romulus Rotary Club recently donated $150 to the Big Brothers/Big Sisters Organization to help with that group's important projects.

The group services children from one parent homes between the ages of 8 through 12. Its purpose is to establish a consistent and supportive relationship between the child and an adult volunteer.

Residents wanting further information on the Big Brothers/Big Sisters Organization are urged to telephone 274-7833.

Area volunteers are needed

Family and neighborhood services of Out-Wayne County has begun a Volunteer Program. Individuals — male and female — at least 18 years and older with a high school diploma or a G.E. D. equivalent who are interested in volunteering their time to work with youth, young adults, individuals and families will be interviewed.

If you have skills in doing Arts and Crafts, basic sewing, and reading stories with the mentally and physically impaired; assisting parents with meal planning, budgeting, household management, working with parent groups, and coordinating play activities for young children; assisting senior citizens with chore services, transportation, and a medical program please contact Pat Bellinger or Laurie Yandian at 782-0600 between the hours of 9 and 5 p.m. Mondays thru Fridays.

Court redesigns Holley Plan

A long-awaited reapportionment plan for Wayne County Commissioner districts that appears to fall within the guidelines established by the Michigan Supreme Court and Appeals Court may be ready for final approval Wednesday, five days ahead of the May 17 filing deadline for Precinct Delegates.

The redesigned Holley Plan submitted to the five-member Apportionment Commission Friday agrees with the two major requirements of the court decision:

- (1) that it limit itself to an 11.9 percent variance in population;
- (2) no split boundaries of cities and townships. The one exception is Detroit.

According to Hubert L. Holley, the Democratic Party representative on the commission, the proposal, basically, will eliminate the division of Dearborn, Dearborn Heights and Westland; will join Ecorse and River Rouge with Southwest Detroit; and combine Hamtramck and Highland Park with Detroit districts.

The Supreme Court allowed the five-man commission, composed of Holley; James R. Killeen, County Clerk; Michael W. Legg, Republican Party representative; William L. Cahalan, County Prosecuting Attorney; and Raymond Wojtowicz, County Treasurer, 12 days, beginning May 5, to resubmit its revised proposal.

The Commission, because of the few days remaining before the filing deadline, sent the Holley Plan on to staff members with orders to have it ready for final approval by May 12. It was generally agreed that no other plans would be considered — or could be considered — if the mandated deadline was to be met.

The four-part, 66-page Supreme Court ruling, in essence, called the Appeals Court ruling wrong in expecting any plan to have a zero percent division in population between districts and stipulated that no township or city boundaries be violated.

The original Holley Plan was contested by the cities of Dearborn, Dearborn Heights and Westland when the communities protested boundary splits. The Appeals Board then rejected the plan — based on population variances — and the Apportionment Commission applied to the Michigan Supreme Court for a higher court ruling. Its opinion was handed down May 5th.

If Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley's proposed $6.2 million city budget is to encounter trouble it will come in the area of proposed salary hikes for department heads.

The mayor found support for his 1982-83 fiscal package from the majority of councilpersons, and his proposed decrease of the millage rate also was viewed favorably. However, the battle of the wage increases is expected to be a long and hard one.

"I don't see how he can realistically give some department heads raises," said councilman Jimmie Raspberry, "when next month he has to again discuss contracts with the Department of Public Service. He's proposing a heck of a lot of raises for non-union people."

"And I would remind him that he may recommend them, but it's up

Jerry's people

Displaying a copy of the resolution he signed, Mayor William M. Oakley today proclaimed May as Muscular Dystrophy Month throughout the city of Romulus in ceremonies held at the City Hall. Mayor Oakley presented Elvera A. Fisher, the 1982 Volunteer Chairman for Romulus, a copy of the proclamation. The mayor called upon the people of Romulus to support the fight against Muscular Dystrophy with donations to support an all-out research effort against the crippling disease. Those wishing to help in this worthwhile cause may volunteer by telephoning "March Against Time" headquarters at 937-9123.

Handicapped sue to use buildings

Are local public buildings accessible to the handicapped?

The Detroit Chapter of the National Association of the Physically Handicapped doesn't think so. Represented by attorney Mark Weiss, the NAPH has filed suit in Wayne Circuit Court to resolve some of the problems its members are having in the areas of building accessibility, parking spaces and telephone placement.

Although Romulus adopted an ordinance last year that would provide the handicapped with some of the safeguards they need, other areas such as Huron, Sumpter, Van Buren, and Belleville remain targets of the NAPH.

Board denies Huron, Romulus tax appeals

In her report to the City Council last night, Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, chairman of the local tax assessment appeal delegation, is expected to tell council that the trip to the Wayne County Tax Assessment Board was an interesting though unfruitful one.

Mrs. Banks led a delegation to the Wayne County Building consisting of city assessor JoLynn DeBuysscher, councilmen Jimmie Raspberry and John Lewkowicz. Their purpose was to convince the county to repeal the entire 15.98 percent increase on residential property. That increase will be reflected in residential property owners' next tax bills.

Although the county Tax Assessment Board listened to the local group's arguments for the rollback — as they did for Huron Township, Sumpter, and Van Buren — none of the communities appealing the assessments received any satisfaction.

"Our group presented documentation and rationale to support our concerns regarding the proposed assessment," stated Mrs. Banks in her report.

"The report went on to say that: Councilman Lewkowicz, Councilman Raspberry and I expressed our concerns regarding the unjust increased assessments based on the uniqueness, exclusive and distinct characteristics of Romulus."

"Based on these considerations, documentation by the assessor's office and the state of the economy, we urged the committee to recognize the injustice being imposed on the citizens of Romulus with this assessment increase."

"We also urged the committee to recommend a repeal of the assessment increases to the Board of Commissioners. The resolution adopted by council on March 22, 1982 had been received by the Committee and was presented to them again yesterday."

"Mrs. DeBuysscher, using her expertise and knowledge of tax assessments, presented our case in a professional manner with well-documented data."

"It is my understanding that the entire General Government Committee will meet tomorrow to discuss each city's assessment appeal. The Committee will make recommendations to the Board of Commissioners at their meeting Thursday, May 6, 1982. The Board of Commissioners are to vote on the tax assessment appeals Thursday, May 6th.

"It is encouraging from comments made at our meeting yesterday that Romulus assessments may be decreased and that we will receive some relief for all taxpayers in Romulus. Apparently the Board of Commissioners will make that decision at their meeting May 6, 1982."

"I spoke with Commissioner Harris today and he assures me that he will oppose the assessment increases experienced by our citizens."

Although they were very receptive and understanding to the pleas from representatives of the communities, the Wayne County Tax Equalization Board rejected the appeals of lowering the recent assessment increases urged by county and local officials.

Members of local government met with representatives of the county's appeals' board in a day-long discussion, but at the end found no relief. Van Buren Township asked the tax board to roll back the entire 8.92 percent increase on residential property, while Sumpter Township officials urged the appeal of the 7.53 percent hike.

Nine communities, including Grosse Pointe Township, Huron Township, Sumpter Township, Van Buren Township, the City of Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Romulus, Westland and Wyandotte protested the recent increases that led to record-numbers filing into the local Board of Review Offices demanding relief.

To add injury to insult, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners may place a special one-only one-mill assessment on the Aug. 3 primary ballot. If approved by the voters, the new revenue would help bring into the county coffers about $18 million which would almost cut in half the present projected county deficit of $16.7 million.

we're working on ironing out the kinks."

Mrs. Banks said that the raises to the department heads would "insure parity with area counterparts, or we may risk losing them."

"There were inequities in the wage scale and the proposed budget addresses itself to resolving those problems. The union people received a $300 bonus with their last contract and what this budget is doing is to try to give those people who are non-union some parity."

"I know we're going to encounter some flack when we return to bargain the next contract, but budgets — just like the ones you establish at home — are a master plan through which people can make suggestions and recommendations," Banks concluded.

Battle of budget

Department head raises are in deep trouble to the governing body to approve them. And I can't see how I can go back to my constituents and tell them I approve these recommendations with a clear conscience.

"It just isn't realistic," Raspberry concluded. "This is a poor community and he (the mayor) also isn't talking into consideration what the state is going to do. A lot of what the state legislature does, such as paying or not paying an income tax, will have an effect one way or the other on local budgets."

Mary Ann Banks, Mayor Pro Tem, disagreed with Raspberry's conclusions.

"Basically it is a realistic budget," Mrs. Banks said. "Sure there are some flaws, but all budgets have them and that's why

Yousuf: 'Accusations are preposterous'

Tigris owner denies sexual abuse charges

By ERIC GEARNES
(Special Writer)

George Ayoub Yousuf was the most surprised man in the state two and one half years ago when WXYZ-TV Channel 7 broke a story which inferred that four of his female employees had been dismissed because they were married.

The four filed a complaint with the Civil Rights Commission claiming they were discharged because they were married and would not grant sexual favors to male customers of Yousuf's Tigris Supper Club on Merriman Road in Romulus.

Yousuf himself was never questioned by the TV station nor was he made aware of the former employees complaint until after the complaint was filed and the news item aired over TV.

It was a complete shock to the owner who had spent the last three years constructing what is considered as one of the finest buildings in the city. The Egyptian decor immediately impressed the businessmen of the Western Wayne County area, and the outstanding cuisine made the spot one of the most popular for lunch and dinner shortly after it opened on December 14, 1979.

When he first opened, Yousuf was employing 45-50 people, most of them from the Romulus, Wayne, and Westland area. The accusations by the four former employees immediately hurt, he said, what was a thriving business and forced Yousuf to lay off employees and shorten his hours.

Yousuf is a native of Iraq and a member of the Roman Catholic faith who left his country to further his education and develop a new life in the United States in 1951. Normally an easy going individual Yousuf had finally had enough when the Detroit News ran a short story three weeks ago announcing the upcoming hearing of the Civil Rights Commission and stating the employees complaint, while saying that Yousuf was unavailable for comment.

"They (the newspaper) never made a real effort to contact me. If they had I would have told them exactly what happened. We have nothing to hide. We are very proud of what we have built here and we have never done anything in our place except to give the customers exceptionally good food, a pleasing atmosphere, and excellent service," said Yousuf.

Yousuf explained the leaving of the four employees this way: "The first employee only worked for us three weeks and requested to be moved to the day shift. When she was told there were no openings on that shift at present she quit."

"The second employee was laid off after a very short period of time because she did not have the experience as a waitress that we needed. The third employee quit after six weeks because she stated her husband did not want her to work. The final employee was doing an outstanding job for us and in fact was our head waitress, and considered as a member of our family. She had a dispute with our female day manager, who is no longer with us, and the manager discharged her without my knowledge. I would have her back at any time," Explained Yousuf.

All of Yousuf's claims are substantiated he says by employee records and other employees' who were working at the time.

"As far as the statement that they were fired for being married all you have to do is check how many employees we have who are married," offered Yousuf.

After checking the employee records and interviewing the waitresses and bartenders, it was learned that all but one of the present 22 employees are in fact married.

The vast majority of these employees have worked at the Tigris since it opened in December of 1979.

"Marriage has never been an issue of employment for us, and although we don't discriminate against single people, we like having married employees because they are much more stable and appreciate the job," Yousuf said.

As for the remainder of the charge that Yousuf required the girls to remain after shifts with the customers or to grant the customers sexual favors, Yousuf is in-

Hello from Washington

The world's best known cartoon characters helped welcome an Inkster Safety Patrol to the nation's capital April 30. Greeting Walt Disney World figures and 1982 National AAA Honorary Safety Patrol Captains Mickey and Minnie Mouse are (left to right) Scott Strasser, 12, 30907 Fernwood, Westland, a student at Garden City's St. Raphael School, and Maurice Schropshire, 11, 3273 Isabel, Inkster, a student at Carver School. Mickey and Minnie also served as Grand Marshals for Washington's 50th annual National School Safety Patrol Parade. The students were among 50 chosen as the state's best Safety Patrollers this year. They were treated to the three-day, expenses-paid Washington-area tour by the Automobile Club of Michigan. Besides participating in the parade, the youths visited other capital sites, including the Lincoln Memorial and the Smithsonian Institution before returning to Michigan.

Running for political office?

Campaign finance reporting laws is theme of seminars

Wayne County Clerk James R. Killeen in June will conduct two seminars explaining complications of the Campaign Finance Reporting Law, to help candidates for elected public office comply with state legislation enacted in 1977.

As a public service for candidates and other politically involved, Killeen has conducted the seminars annually since the law was enacted.

"We have found that many people involved in politics are unaware of this law and some who are aware but do not realize that it pertains to them. The purpose of the seminars is to explain the law, detail reasons for the law and to emphasize the importance of filing accurate statements and reports on time," said Killeen.

The seminars are on Monday, June 7 at 7:30 p.m. at UAW Region 1E, 9650 S. Telegraph Rd. in Taylor; and Thursday, June 10 at 7:30 p.m. at UAW Local 174, 6495 W. Warren Ave., Detroit.

"The seminars usually last about two hours," said Killeen. "We explain both the political and legal aspects of the law and actually take those attending the seminar step by step through the forms they will be required to file."

Killeen said that there are five types of committees defined under the act and each committee requires different forms and information, although the forms "look alike."

"Reports must be filed even if no money is received or spent in a campaign, something unknown to many groups or organizations but could nevertheless lead to criminal or monetary penalties under the Act," he said.

"All candidates, office holders, groups or organizations involved in an election this year are urged to attend at least one of these sessions," Killeen stated.

Benefit game set

When the WCXI Radio 11 Country Lovers clash with the Belleville area teachers tonight, the Belleville High athletic program will come out the winner.

A benefit game to help raise funds for the high school's athletic programs will be staged at 7 p.m., Wed., May 12 on the Belleville High Football Field.

There will also be a special appearance of "the one and only" Country Danny Dixon.

Tickets are $1 pre-sale game and $2 at the gate. The benefit game was organized by Cathy Stabnau. Fans needing further information may contact her at 699-5380.

'The older adult'

As part of national "Mental Health Month", the Catherine McAuley Health Center in Ann Arbor will hold a series of seminars.

Further information about the discussion series may be obtained by telephoning 663-3042.

Romulus names valedictorian

Though schools and school districts are having their problems, students continue to do their work.

Gina Marie Toth and her classmates Robin Hoag and Thomas Scamp exemplify that statement. They work hard and are the top scholars at Romulus High this year. The trio was named to lead their class.

Miss Toth garnered an enviable 4.0 grade point average and was named as the class valedictorian. She is the daughter of Mrs. William Lawrence and the late Oscar Toth.

Gina plans to attend the University of Michigan Honors Program and will major in pre-medicine.

Salutatorians are Robin Hoag and Thomas Scamp.

Robin lives at 7280 Farnum with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoag. She will attend Wayne State University where she will study nursing.

Thomas resides at 16430 Wayne Road. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Scamp and will attend R.E.T.S. and major in electronics.

The remaining students who make up the top ten in a class of 318 are Robert Bales, Anna David, Barbara Hayes, Michael Falatine, Craig Manning, Robert Springer and Laura Nichel.

Tax rollback is a dream

Although local officials made the trip to the Wayne County Building to argue their cases for a tax assessment rollback, they did find a listener in Commissioner William J. Runco.

Hit with steep tax increases, Romulus, Van Buren, Huron and Sumpter delegation made it to Detroit last Thursday to present their cases for the rollback.

None of the nine communities that asked for the rollback received them. But the County Board of Commissioners were to resume debate on the issues this week.

A Wayne County tax equalization report and recommendation, the basis of proposed property assessments, is due again this week for consideration and likely adoption by the County Board of Commissioners.

The report was put aside last week when Commissioner Runco, from Dearborn, proposed a 6.59 percent rollback of the assessed valuation of residential properties, a return to 1981 levels.

In effect, the rollback would mean no tax increase at all for individual homeowners and neither a corresponding gain of revenue for governmental units, school districts and other taxing jurisdictions.

Runco said the rollback was deserved because property owners protested "in overwhelming numbers" before their respective local boards of review prior to arguments at hearings of the County Tax Equalization Hearing Board.

Runco said also that the assessments were based on properties that were overvalued in today's real estate market.

"We have a decreasing market for home sales," Runco explained. "People in financial trouble cannot sell their homes, and potential buyers cannot afford to purchase."

"Since tax assessments by law should be no more than 50 percent of true cash value, I think the current proposed assessments are potentially a violation of law inasmuch as they reflect more than half the true cash value available in the market."

Commissioner Paul G. Citkowski, a critic of Runco's proposal and Chairman of the Tax Equalization Board which heard eight days of testimony from local community officials, said such a rollback would mean a financial penalty for the County as well as for the local communities involved. Already, said Citkowski, some local communities are likely to expend their budgets as early as sometime in June.

Citkowski said the rollback proposed would mean as much as $5 million loss of revenue for the County, which is currently facing a projected $16.7 million deficit. In addition, he said, the rollback would save the average property owner in Wayne County only about 35 cents per month.

If the report is approved as recommended by the County Bureau of Taxation, it would out all residential, commercial, and industrial property value up to $18.8 billion, an increase from $18.1 billion last year, according to the report.

Together, this would mean a 3.75 percent raise of revenue, a substantial help for conditions such as this year's unanticipated spending of $11.1 million and unexpected revenue shortage of $5.6 million.

Both Runco and Commissioner Mary E. Dumas, from Livonia, point to large numbers of citizens protesting locally, but Citkowski said only nine communities of the County's 43 communities asked for reconsideration of the assessments in official hearings before the County.

"It means that most understand and are reasonably satisfied," he said.

In disagreement, Mrs. Dumas said after the meeting that this year's jump in property taxes is reason to rescind or postpone a state statute, Public Act 114, which is the basis for taxing property at 50 percent of true cash value. "The Act was written in 1978 and adopted during a time of rising property values, a situation far different from our present conditions," said Mrs. Dumas. She continued:

"In today's market, there are few prospective buyers capable of handling mortgages requiring high interest rates and down payments. It makes no sense to expect home values to remain at the inflated heights of one or two years ago."

"Now we can achieve true equity only if local assessors will go out in the community and actually make new appraisals, rather than depending on past assessments with an inflation factor added. The long-range solution is a county-wide assessment of property reflecting the current, realistic situation."

Westland schools drop dual tax collection system

Westland homeowners will find their summer tax bills somewhat smaller this July, following a vote Monday evening by the City Council to rescind the dual collection of taxes for the Wayne-Westland Community Schools.

The council in 1980, and at the request of school district officials, had approved collecting the taxes in two equal amounts on the summer and winter tax bills, a change from the collection of the entire amount on the winter, or December, bill. However, that approval was one-year and was subject to a review by the council.

The collection stirred up a hornet's nest in the community, and irate homeowners bombarded the council with complaints about lack of notification of the change, the sudden jump in tax bills and hefty increase in mortgage payments by one lending institution.

The council earlier this year held a public hearing on the issue to garner citizen input on dual tax collection and was again bombarded with citizen complaints.

The school district had sought the twice yearly collection in all communities within its boundaries in hopes of having an adequate supply of revenue at the start of its fiscal year. Westland was the only community to go along with the request, and Wayne-Westland officials believed that decision saved the district some $700,000 interest on money it didn't have to borrow until local tax revenues came in after the first of the year.

The school district's fiscal year parallels the city's — from July 1 to June 30. With taxes collected on a December tax bill not available until January and February, the district is forced to borrow needed revenue through tax anticipation notes.

However, even though the City Council rescinded its earlier motion, it was pointed out at Monday night's meeting that a bill is currently in the State Legislature, which would allow a school district to work with the county in the dual collection of school taxes, if a municipality refuses the district's request.

Inkster school board accepts trustee White's resignation

Charles White, who has served as president of the Inkster School Board the past two years and as a trustee for the past seven years, submitted his resignation to the board, ending a 3-year long controversy.

White, one of four trustees who are targets of a recall campaign, submitted his resignation, dated April 27, to the board and to Supt. of Schools Garnett Hegeman.

White's resignation is effective April 30.

"I submit, with regret, my resignation from this Board," White wrote, "effective April 30. Of notable mention is the fact that my regret is not for me, but rather for the youth of this community whose educational goals have been seriously interrupted by the most uneducated and illiterate of those in our community."

White continued to state that "my resignation should not be construed a sign of weakening, nor should it be received as from a quitter, but rather a clear indication from me that I choose not to allow the future of the district's youth to be used as a battleground for personal and political aspirations."

White went on to say that "to those in the district, faculty, staff, residents, and youth alive, worth mentioning, I have done my best to serve you to the best of my ability. To others of you who choose to continuously degrade (down to your levels) the concept of educational administration, I assure you that I will remain in the district's effort to ensure that you do not destroy all that a school district should stand for."

"Because you must not, you will not, convert the Inkster School District into a playground for derelicts," White concluded.

White came under attack by a group of citizens who argued that he didn't reside in the school district therefore illegally held office. The controversy wound up in court before Judge John O'Hair who had postponed the initial hearing because White's attorney said he didn't have enough time to prepare his case.

The group, known as "Concerned Parents, Citizens, Taxpayers of the Inkster School System," had obtained the services of attorney John MacDonald who had presented the court with exhibits that would have proven, he said, that "Mr. White didn't reside in the school district."

With White's resignation, the recall committee, headed by General Laney, said that they would intensify their recall efforts against the remaining three targets—George Williams Jr., Fred Shockley and John Rucker.

"We believe that these three trustees do not serve in the best interests of our school district and our children, therefore, we will not stop until they have been recalled," Laney said.

How sweet it is

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative

A newly-enacted state law will take away much of the red tape and confusion that so many businesses run into when they have to obtain necessary state permits and licenses.

The law creates a "one stop" business permits office.

Michigan's high unemployment rate, the generally sluggish economy, and continuing complaints from businesses about the cost of doing business in recent years have directed much attention toward improving Michigan's business climate.

One frequent complaint by the business community is that the process of securing permits and licenses in Michigan is unnecessarily complicated.

It is not unusual for a single business to be required to obtain several permits from a number of different offices. Business people say that not only is it difficult to be aware of all the different requirements, but the uncoordinated processing of the various applications can cause expensive and frustrating delays for new or expanding businesses.

The purpose of the "one stop" business permits office is to assist businesses to overcome bureaucratic obstacles, reduce confusion, and avoid delays.

The new Office of Business Permits will be within the Department of Commerce. It would provide full information on permits required for business activities in Michigan and develop procedures for applicants to follow in securing required permits. There would be no cost for this service.

(The service would not include any occupational licenses required for a profession or trade.)

The office would make recommendation for eliminating, simplifying, or consolidating permit procedures, and would develop a computer system to score permit information in order to assist applicants.

The office will make available a list of all permits issued by each state agency which issues permits, the cost of original and renewal fees and the frequency of renewals, and whether an inspection is required for approval of a permit.

The office will develop a master application to assist businesses in identifying and processing permits. A master application would require information on the type and location of an applicant's business project and any other information the Department of Commerce requires by rule.

After the office receives one or more permits from state agencies in response to a master application, the office would provide the business with the proper forms. The applicant could forward the completed forms to the agency, or could request the office to receive and forward the forms together with any necessary fees. The office could act in an advisory way to aid a business on permit requirements, but could not infringe on a state agency's authority concerning permits.

Each state department will be required to appoint a representative as a liaison to work with the Office of Business Permits. State agencies would have to notify the office of any new permit or changes of an existing permit. The office will be of an experimental nature and will expire after five years unless it is renewed by the Legislature.

The legislation was supported by the Departments of Commerce and Management and Budget and the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

Handicapped sue cities

Are local public buildings accessible to the handicapped?

The Detroit Chapter of the National Association of the Physically Handicapped doesn't think so. Represented by attorney Mark Weiss, the NAPH has filed suit in Wayne Circuit Court to resolve some of the problems its members are having in the areas of building accessibility, parking spaces and telephone placement.

Although Romulus adopted an ordinance last year that would provide the handicapped with some of the safeguards they need, other areas such as Huron, Sumpter, Van Buren, and Belleville remain targets of the NAPH.

'Connector' to solve area bus problems

Although some residents of Sumpter, Van Buren and Romulus may not be aware of it, a large urban area is not the only place to take advantage of public transportation.

In fact, SEMTA bus "Connector" service has been available to residents of these areas for over three years.

The Connector system does exactly what the name implies, it provides direct connections for passengers between point of origin and point of destination within a specific geographic area.

For instance, rather than trekking to a bus stop, Connector passengers need only to call the dispatch number, 942-9230, to arrange for a bus to pick them up at the curb of their home (or any other specified place) and take them to the curb of their destination.

If a return trip is required, that too can be arranged during the one phone call to the dispatch center.

Downtown Belleville, Romulus Towers senior citizens complex, Oakwood Medical Clinic, Wayne County Community College, the senior citizens lunch program in Sumpter and numerous other locations within Van Buren and Sumpter Townships and parts of Romulus can be reached by Connector bus.

Other destinations within Wayne County are also accessible by using the "Connector" to Making local residents aware of the new SEMTA small bus "Connector" service to residents of Sumpter, Van Buren and Romulus, a "Connector" pulled into Sumpter Township last week to publicize its services. Ready to board the bus are Lucille Erhart transfer to other SEMTA services. Details of where and how to transfer can also be obtained during the call to the dispatch center.

Regular "Connector" service is available Monday through Friday from 6:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. Elderly and handicapped individuals receive first priority; however, the service is available to all residents. Elderly and handicapped individuals can call for a reservation up to six days in advance, other passengers should call the day before they plan to travel.

Other special services are also available via Connector buses.

For example, groups of senior citizens (approximately 10 to 17 in number) residing in the same residential complex can arrange for a standing trip at the same time every day or week to a location within about a six mile radius from the complex.

This relatively new program, called Site-to-Site, is now used by over 500 senior citizens from 31 apartment complexes in the tri-county area. Nineteen of these complexes are located in Wayne County.

In addition to Site-to-Site, there is also a program called Many-to-One, in which individuals are picked up from scattered locations and taken to the same location, such as a nutrition or recreation program. These trips are also on a regular, standing order basis.

For information on how to arrange for a Site-to-Site or Many-to-One, call the SEMTA Public Affairs Department, 256-8765.

censed with the whole notion. "We are an elite establishment that serves excellent food and beverages, and we do not condone, nor do we even wish to have our employees remain after their shift is completed.

"We only ask that our employees treat every customer with courtesy and respect and we require that same courtesy and respect from our customers. Those charges are completely false and all one has to do to find out is to stop in and see for themselves," explained Yousuf.

There is no disputing Yousuf's sincerity nor his desire to make his establishment one of the finest in the state. He has employed master chef Pat Graczyk, formerly of the Vineyards, who is regarded by many as one of the finest chefs in the area. All fish specialties are delivered fresh daily and Graczyk used only the best cuts of beef for the house specialty, Shish-ka-bob.

Graczyk has been a chef for 22 years and has taught culinary arts in the Monroe School System.

Yousuf plans to expand his present business. Plans have already been drawn and with the support of the Romulus Economic Development Corporation he will construct alongside the Tigris a 100 room luxury hotel replete with heated indoor swimming pool and recreation area.

Yousuf has also contracted to bring in live entertainment on Friday and Saturday evenings in the form of well known local comedians and the always popular Wally Mann Gong Nite.

"I feel a part of the Romulus Community and I want to grow along with the city. I want to make jobs available for people and give everyone a great place to come to for lunch, dinner or just a night out. While people have found me guilty of things I've never done just by accusing me, I will fight back in my way, by giving better and better food service and entertainment and by helping the economy to grow in Romulus," said Yousuf.

Home sales decline

Declining average home prices in most local areas should encourage bargain-conscious buyers to begin moving into the market, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

A report on April activities of the board, the state's largest, reveals the average price for 2,330 homes sold by members this year was $56,256, nearly $500 below last year's figure. A comparison of April prices showed an even larger drop from $59,099 in 1981 to a current of $57,362.

Year-to-date statistics show lower prices in 14 of the board's areas of coverage where more than 25 homes have been sold this year. Prices were higher in seven others.

WWOCBR sales volume for existing homes is off nearly 35 percent in 1982 following declines of 20 percent in both 1980 and 1981.

"Even our figures can't accurately reflect price trends in this recession market," said Lloyd Mason, WWOCBR president. "Many sellers are keeping prices higher than might be expected to cover their expenses in participating in below-market financing.

"The 15 percent decline in listings this year indicates that many potential sellers are content to sit tight and wait for prices to climb when the market does begin to open up. But, we also note an easing off of withdrawn listings and a high number of price reductions. This points to a substantial number determined to sell their property at the best price they can obtain.

"The buyer who has a substantial share of the price obviously has a great deal of added leverage in such a competitive market and should, by careful shopping, make an excellent deal."

WWOCBR statistics show lower prices in all its Northwest Detroit sales areas except the Woodward to Greenfield area between Six and Eight Mile Roads. Prices for the 42 homes sold here are averaging about $1,000 more than a year ago at $36,143. However, the 16 sold in April averaged only $31,877.

Other major WWOCBR market areas showing lower prices include Westland at $41,729 from $47,233 in 1981; Livonia, $61,999 from $64,736

WCRC contract war to continue

Killeen, Hertel won't give up fight

Reluctant to quit despite a series of court frustrations, Wayne County Commissioner George F. Killeen and State Sen. John C. Hertel are appealing their lawsuit against a six-year contract between the County Road Commission and 70 some chief administrators said to protect the executive jobs from pending reforms.

An earlier suit by Killeen, Hertel and the chairman and vice-chairman of the Charter Commission was dismissed by visiting Circuit Court Judge David Vokes because, he said, as individuals they lacked legal standing to challenge the contract.

Urged by Killeen and Hertel, later the State Senate and the Charter Commission sued against the contract, but this too was dismissed by Vokes also because of lack of standing. Since then, a third suit has been filed by the Charter Commission.

Explaining the reason for appeal in spite of Vokes' ruling, Killeen said, "This is a case we'll take as far as possible within the justice system. We'll use every means possible to prevent the raping of taxpayers and long-term employees under this guise of a labor organization claiming to protect the worker."

In truth, this is an extortion attempt equalling the infamy of an Al Capone."

Killeen continued: "Judge Vokes' decision saying that we have no standing reminds me of the recent instance when I took my car to the service garage for a front-end alignment. When the mechanic asked why the car was so severely out of alignment, I said it was because of lack of maintenance on Wayne County Roads."

"If awakened taxpayers show enough interest, perhaps we will then be able to get some maintenance at productive levels in the Road Commission, instead of worthless effort at high administrative levels."

Hertel added: "Our appeal to a higher court is essential when you have to consider if even God would have proper standing in Judge Vokes' courtroom. We think we need a second opinion."

"I've never before seen such nit-picking in an effort to throw a case out of court. The judge keeps telling us that the suits are not brought by the proper plaintiffs, but he won't tell us who the proper plaintiffs are."

Hertel continued: "Still, we're going to press the issue to its utmost, including the Appeals Court and, if necessary, the State Supreme Court and finally the federal courts."

"Michigan law clearly states that it is illegal to form a bargaining unit composed of executives making management-level decisions. We firmly believe the law is on our side, and we feel the higher courts will address that law. At the higher court levels, political considerations on this issue won't extend into the courtroom."

In January, Wayne County government will change to include a new Chief Executive Officer and operate with 12 fewer county commissioners. Killeen and Hertel feel that the Road Commission contract would hamper prerogatives of the new Chief Executive while trying to improve efficiency.

Gifted child finds new horizons

Being a gifted child may also be a handicap... especially if there are no channels or programs to help recognize the special talents these children have.

Finally, there is some recognition in a field that in the past couldn't help the gifted child develop his — or her — fullest potential because of the lack of programs.

Last week was "Gifted Child Week in Michigan."

And Gov. William G. Milliken urged all educators and parents to recognize the special needs of the gifted child.

In his executive declaration in observance of the gifted child, Gov. Milliken noted that: "Children are our most valuable resource. They are our legacy and our responsibility."

"When the academic and creative abilities of children are identified early in their lives, they can be encouraged and assisted to fulfill their potential."

"Gifted children are a special responsibility," the declaration continued. "Because of their high level of potential, every opportunity should be made to ensure that their development is not limited and the Michigan Association for the Academically Talented is helping gifted children by encouraging schools, communities and parents to meet the special educational needs of these children."

Gov. Milliken called upon citizens "to become aware of the special needs of gifted children and the programs available to them."

And, last Saturday, Tommy Suter of the Van Buren School District, learned just what opportunities were available to a youngster with special academic talents as he attended a "TIME" conference.

"TIME" is an acronym for The Interactions of Minds and Energies. The conference for the gifted and talented students was organized by the Wayne County Intermediate School District and scores of youngsters throughout Wayne County had an opportunity to participate.

Open to children in grades fifth through eighth, some 200 students visited Plymouth Salem high school where the one-day conference was held.

Each student was asked to submit an original project from ten specified categories. Tommy, who is a fifth grade student at Quirk Elementary School, chose science and presented a locker light as his project.

The goal of the conference is to give the gifted and talented student the opportunity to interact with peers and an expert in the field of his choice. Tommy was able to demonstrate his invention to other students and then visit the computer room to gain knowledge in the computer field.

A luncheon was served and entertainment provided by Sharon Newman a ventriloquist and puppeteer.

"It was a good experience and fun," said Tom later, who also enjoyed showing his parents, Roger and Pat Suter, of 11020 Borgman, all the projects on display. Parents and visitors were allowed at the end of the day.

Local school districts share $14 million in state aid

Senate Majority Leader William Faust (D-Westland) today announced that students from 15 school districts in the 13th State Senate District will share a total of $14,259,093.89 in the most recent state school aid payments.

Senator Faust said that most of the school districts will also receive a total of $926,969.55 in federal funds to aid educationally deprived children under Title I and $248,892.37 in vocational education funds.

"These state and federal funds are paid to the school district during the year on the first day of February, April, June, August, October and December," Faust said.

Huron pupil writes her history of the shoe...

By LYNDA SCHOEDEL
5th Grade
Riverside Elementary

During the past years, man has changed.

So have shoes.

The oldest type of footwear was the sandal. The sandal has changed over the years but it is still popular.

The shoes the people wore also depended on the climate. For example, the Egyptians and Assyrians wore sandals. The Chinese, the Persians, and the Barbarians wore something completely enclosing the whole foot.

Over the years the style of shoes has changed completely. The change was not for comfort because some of the shoes were very uncomfortable. Why were they changed? For style and beauty.

In America, there were shoemakers from the beginning. Shoemaker Thomas Beard came over on the Mayflower. In time all the colonies had shoemakers, but New England stayed leader in shoemaking.

In the 19th Century they began to make shoes by machine. In the 1850's, the McKay stitch was invented. This machine stitched the inner and outer soles of the shoes. With this machine the tasks were a little lighter on the people.

The United States is the major manufacturer of the machines in making shoes. Today, handwork is done only in repairing of shoes and in making shoes to order.

(What about 'cruel shoes,' Lynda? Don't they deserve a place in history?)

So you promised her a rose garden?

Then better start digging

Bedding plants are some of the most colorful good things growing in Michigan, and last year our state produced 6,428,000 flats. More than three-fourths of them were flowering plants to add brilliant hues to gardens and lawns all across Michigan.

Combined, the flowering and vegetable bedding plants were worth more than $26 million last year, nearly half the total $54.5 million wholesale value of Michigan floriculture, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Michigan continues to rank second among the states in bedding plant production, and fifth in floriculture, which includes chrysanthemums, hybrid tea and sweetheart roses, and a variety of other cut and potted flowers. Last year, Michigan growers produced 6,765,000 pots of geraniums, enough to brighten a great many patios, planters, balconies and gardens.

Right now is a particularly delightful time to visit your city farmers' market or a roadside stand so you can feast your eyes on the remarkable riot of color. Each year it seems the growers bring forth new varieties or new colors of old favorites to compete for your attention.

The same is true of vegetable plants, and isn't it nice to have someone else worry the seeds into sturdy, health seedlings ready for your home garden. I wonder, sometimes, how many tons of tomatoes, how many bushels of green beans, sweet peppers, how many cabbages are harvested in backyard gardens from those flats of bedding plants.

If you're short on garden space, consider hanging baskets filled with cherry tomatoes for a sunny spot; cucumbers in large pots on the patio, with a trellis for them to climb. Leaf lettuce could border your flower beds, and a tub of green peppers trained on wire will provide a shiny green accent among the flowers. Imagination, plenty of sunlight, good drainage, and judicious watering can provide a generous crop of vegetables for your dinner table.

Here's how to till soil

Are you planning to expand your vegetable garden? Plant an extra flower bed? Turn the soil around your shrubs? You could be in the market for a rotary tiller.

"Since the early 1970's, rotary tillers have become increasingly popular garden tools for homeowners and amateur gardeners," Robert C. Bechler, manager of consumer products for Ford Tractor Operations, said. "Tillers come in a variety of sizes and prices, have year-round applications and help take the drudgery out of routine garden chores."

Bechler noted that more than 500,000 power tillers are sold annually in the United States and Canada. Prices range from about $300 to more than $1,000 for heavy-duty models used by some commercial farms and nurseries.

"Homeowners are finding that garden tillers have a variety of uses," Bechler said. "Tillers can be helpful tools—not just during the spring, but throughout the summer and fall as well. And that's one important reason for their increasing popularity."

He explained that garden tillers can be used to:

- Break up the soil and prepare seed beds during the spring.
- Weed and cultivate the soil around shrubs and trees.
- Prepare ground for a new lawn or sodding.
- Cultivate garden soil and eliminate weeds around flowers and vegetables without disturbing plant roots during the summer.
- Clean up leftover stalks, stems and plant material and blend them into the soil during the fall to provide mulch and natural fertilizer for the next growing season.

"Modern garden tillers are lightweight and easy to operate," Bechler noted. "In recent years, we've added a number of features, such as adjustable handles and single clutch-lever controls, that have increased the popularity of tillers among gardeners."

He said Ford Tractor dealers offer three rotary tillers from 3.5 to five horsepower. The Ford tillers have easily adjustable depth controls that allow a gardener to work the surface for "fine" cultivation or penetrate the ground as much as nine inches for seedbed preparation and heavy mulching.

"Whether you plan to conserve on food bills by adding a garden plot or you just want to enjoy gardening more by cutting out time-consuming, back-breaking digging and weeding jobs, a rotary tiller represents a sound investment," Mr. Bechler said. "Rotary tillers are durable, easy-to-use tools that will provide many years of service if they are properly maintained."

"Most serious gardeners now consider a rotary tiller to be an essential tool. No other single piece of gardening equipment can break up, crumble and blend the soil to such a uniform texture."

Bechler pointed out that rotary tillers blend organic residue throughout the soil. As this material decays, it forms its own rich plant food and serves to build a desirable "crumb-like" soil structure.

Proper tillage also improves the soil's ability to hold moisture. The many ground-surface areas and cavities formed throughout rotary-tilled soil aid in holding moisture around plant roots where it is most needed.

In addition, tilled soil takes in more air and "breathes more easily." Increased aeration helps plants grow more quickly. Studies have shown, for example, that a one-percent increase in soil aeration results in a three-percent increase in plant growth.

Everytime someone shoplifts, it's money out of your pocket. Why? It's simple. When they steal from the store, the store has no choice but to hike up prices, and guess who pays? You. So when you see shoplifting, report it. And find out more. Write to: Michigan Coalition to Prevent Shoplifting, P.O. Box 1172, Big Rapids, Michigan 49307. Help yourself, and help me.

Headlee tells Belleville Kiwanians more taxes is not solution

Dick Headlee, a leading candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, told Belleville's Kiwanians last night that "more taxes won't solve this state's problems."

Headlee said that increasing taxes won't solve Michigan's economic problems or create one single job in this state.

"More taxes is not the answer,"

Headlee said. "The answer is reduced government spending and take-charge leadership that will provide long range planning."

"With more than 600,000 men and women without jobs in Michigan we need to immediately put in place the fundamental reforms which would create a positive long-term job climate for the benefit of all Michigan citizens."

Headlee made the following recommendations:

- Bring Michigan welfare benefit payments to parity with those in our surrounding states.
- Institute a workfare program that would require all able-bodied persons receiving welfare benefits to register for work in order to qualify for the benefit payments.

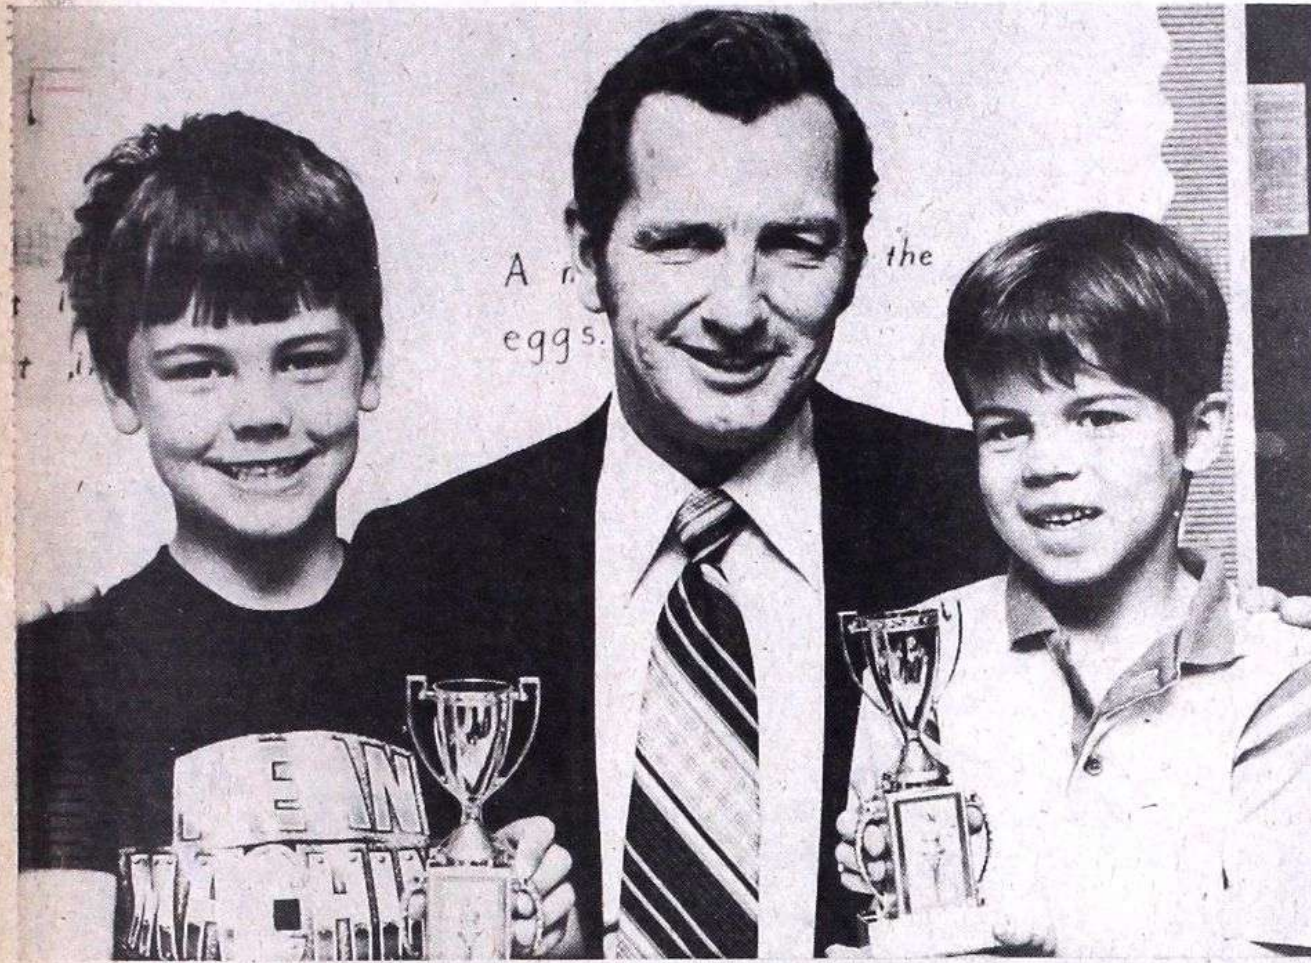

- Improve the unemployment insurance system by reinstating the "waiting week" that the current administration gave away in 1974. Also, lengthen from 18 weeks to 20 weeks the time employees must work in order to qualify for unemployment benefits.
- Create a business credit so that new businesses locating in Michigan would not be required to pick up a portion of the nearly $2 billion unemployment benefit bill the state owes the federal government.

- Modify the Single Business Tax (SBT) by establishing a profit "floor" so that if a business is actually losing money, it will not be inequitably taxed.
- Get aggressively behind revision of Michigan's interest rate laws supported by Martha Seger, Commissioner of the Financial Institutions Bureau.

"If Michigan is going to regain its competitive edge in the market place, then we must again become competitive edge in the market 'Michigan, over the past decade, has become the Northwestern of the Big Ten when it comes to the economy and creating jobs. We just haven't fought to win."

Kite safety

When it comes to kite safety, Merriman School pupils Jerry Metcalf (at left) and Jimmy Brannon know the rules. In fact they translated kite safety rules on a poster so well that they managed to emerge as winners in the Detroit Edison Semi-Final Safety Poster Contest. The two youngsters are pictured with Norman R. Miller, Customer Business Representatives for Detroit Edison, Wayne Branch.

Ravitz joins race for WCE position

Detroit City Councilman Mel Ravitz today announced his candidacy for the newly created position of Wayne County Executive. Ravitz, former City Council President and former Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, said he intends to wage a vigorous Countywide campaign to win the Democratic nomination on August 3.

"I decided to enter the race because I believe the people of Wayne County deserve the choice of an independent, experienced candidate who isn't tied to any special interest or political power broker and who will be able to reorganize the County as the voters intended."

Last year the voters overwhelmingly approved the new Wayne County Charter which created the new position. Mel Ravitz led the fight for a Home Rule Charter for the County as early as 1968 when he was Chairman of the County Board of supervisors.

Ravitz said: "This vote was a demand by Wayne County's citizens for an Independent, competent candidate who can direct the streamlining of Wayne County government with a free hand. I intend to be that candidate."

Ravitz has been a Detroit Councilman for twelve years. Before a recent return to the Council, Ravitz was Director of the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board where he administered a major County-wide service delivery system with an annual budget of over $40,000,000. Mel Ravitz has been active in a number of region-wide agencies including the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeast Michigan.

He received an undergraduate degree from Wayne State University and a Ph.D. from the University of Michigan. Ravitz, a Detroit resident since 1929, is married and the father of six children.

They're No. 1

Romulus Junior High ranks No. 1 at State Band Festival

When it comes to bands, Romulus Junior High is a winner.

Director Richard Kruse's young and talented musicians proved it last week at the State Band Festival.

On Saturday, May 8, the Romulus Jr. High Symphonic Band performed in the State Band Festival.

The band competed for ratings in the "A" Junior High classification at the Fraser Sr. High School.

The result? A First Division Rating with the four judges at the festival according to the Symphonic Band 15 A's, 2 B plusses and 3 B's out of the 20 possible letter grades.

This represents the third highest State Festival rating in the history of the Romulus schools.

Director Kruse was very impressed with the performance of the Symphonic Band.

"It was a joy to hear our students perform as they did and I felt extremely confident throughout the performance of our three selections. It was just a real pleasure to be able to conduct such a fine performance," he said.

The Jr. High Symphonic Band was in the first three Class "A" Bands of the day along with White Jr. High from Lapeer and Eppler Jr. High from Utica.

The coveted First Division Rating in the "A" classification was the first in the State Festival since 1978 for a Romulus Band.

Across the state, 14 bands made it to the State Festival in Class "A". Final ratings for all sections of the State Festival are not announced until the June meeting of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

Junior High School Principal Nick Tottis and Superintendent Dr. William Bedell congratulated the Symphonic Band members on their outstanding achievement and accomplishment.

"The entire community of Romulus can be proud of the performance of this Band" as one of the judges noted in his first comment.

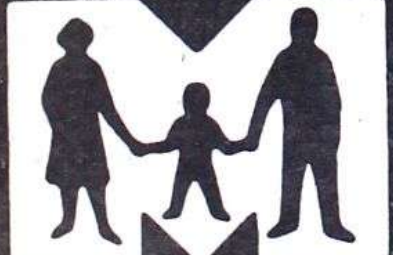

Director Kruse again wished to thank the Romulus Board of Education, the central administration, the Jr. High administration, the Jr. High staff and his wonderful Band Parents for their "super" support.

May set aside in honor of Older Americans

By KENNETH E. OETTL
Michigan Office of Services to the Aging

Each year the President, Congress and the Governor officially proclaim the month of May as Older Americans Month. The President has selected a theme - "Aging Together." The Governor, in his proclamation, urged continuation of efforts to integrate the elderly into every part of our lives.

The proclamations deserve thoughtful consideration by us all. What will make the observance of Older Americans Month more than a symbolic one? What will make it more than a slogan?

I believe that each individual must relate older people and the aging process, to their own family and friends. Ultimately, the individual must acknowledge that some day he too, will be counted among the elderly.

"Older Americans" is a positive phrase. It conveys strength, leadership, experience. The vast majority of older people in your community can and do make considerable contributions. Only 5 percent live in institutions. Some of them, with a little assistance, could maintain health and independence and also contribute greatly.

When you examine negative stereotypes about aging that are reinforced in the media and, too often, in public policy, the facts dispute the myths. According to Louis Harris pollsters, 69 percent of the elderly enjoy good health.

The U.S. Department of Labor statistics reveal that older workers have fewer accidents, better attendance, and are just as productive as their younger counterparts.

There are many other facts which dispute the myths. I think by becoming more educated, examining our own attitudes, and relating to our own family and friends, we can begin the process of changing attitudes.

The State Office of Services to the Aging is participating in a number of activities this month to call attention to the significant contributions of older adults in this state. We are co-sponsoring Senior Citizens Day, May 18, during Michigan Week, in conjunction with the Greater Michigan Foundation. This year the search for the senior citizen of the year for leadership and service is being launched during May. These awards are co-sponsored by the Commission and Office and the Michigan State Fair.

I will also be taking the message that older people are contributing members of our society, particularly as workers, to business and service organizations in a series of presentations throughout the state. My goal is to begin the process of educating the private sector about the abilities of older workers.

The pinnacle of Older Americans Month activities is Senior Power Day (May 11) in Lansing.

'Leaves of Freedom'

Only in America
Where liberty is found
Could "leaves of freedom" be conceived
In pages neatly bound.

Where thoughts of man's philosophy
And moods and feelings pour,
Like leaves upon the wind
Free to climb and soar.

Only in America
Can wonder take its course
In print or vocal words
Till you find the subjects source.

Writers fill their books
With the freedom of their minds
To capture God's great teachings
Where eternal wisdom shines.

Only in America
Can "leaves of freedom" spread.
Each leaf a page uncensored
Of any topic read.

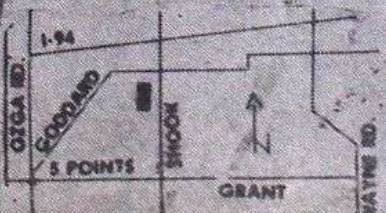

A country from a history
Of trials through the ages
Has proven freedoms' lead
From the wisdom of times' pages.

Only in America
can "leaves of freedom" breed
Where the pride of human dignity had planted that first seed.

James E. McClain, in the newly created planning activity, will be responsible for Automotive Group Planning, including marketing, advertising, sales forecasting and long and short range product planning.

Dick Bayless was born in Lubbock, Texas, attended Tulsa University, and earned his Bachelors Degree from Oklahoma State University. A professor at Oklahoma State for nine years, he joined Kelsey-Hayes Company in 1974 as Superintendent of the Seminole, Oklahoma plant.

From 1976 to 1980 he served as Plant Manager, prior to becoming Manager of the Detroit, Michigan plant.

A member of the American Society for Metals, the Society of Automotive Engineers and the Kiwanis Club, Bayless, 49, is married, has three children and lives in Plymouth, Michigan.

Greeneisen, 40, joined Kelsey-Hayes in 1973, at the firm's Ann Arbor Research and Development Center. In July, 1981, he was promoted to Vice President of Product Assurance.

He holds a BS Degree from the United States Naval Academy and Masters Degree in Electrical Engineering, Naval Architecture and Business Administration. He also earned an Engineer's Degree in Marine Engineering, a Ph.D. in Operations Research and is currently completing a Ph.D. in Industrial Engineering at the University of Michigan.

Greeneisen, his wife and two children reside in Ann Arbor.

Born in Scotland in 1919, James Blair graduated from the Henry Ford Trade School, Apprentice School and Engineering School before joining the military service in 1942. He joined Kelsey-Hayes in 1952 and was appointed Manager of the Jackson, Michigan Aircraft Plant in 1953.

During his career, Blair served with various Kelsey-Hayes groups, had responsibility for the Skid Control Operation and served as Director of Manufacturing Engineering for the Automotive Group.

A member of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers and the Society of Automotive Engineers, he is married, has 10 children and lives in Dearborn.

Wilcher, 37, graduated from Swartz Creek, High School and received his Bachelors Degree from Michigan State University in 1966.

Following three years in the military, he was employed as an Audit Supervisor by Touche Ross & Company, where he earned his C.P.A., before joining Fruehauf Corporation in 1974.

A member of the American Institute of C.P.A.'s and the Michigan Association of C.P.A.'s, Wilcher and his family reside in Grosse Pointe Park.

A native of Perrysburg, Ohio, McClain, 36, received his Bachelors Degree from West Point, a Masters

Degree from Eastern Michigan University, and served five years in the United States Army.

From 1973 until his present appointment, he served in various capacities with the Ford Motor Company truck engineering and product planning group.

McClain is married, has one child and lives in Dexter.

Kelsey-Hayes Company manufactures wheels, brakes and components for use in the automotive, industrial equipment, aerospace, agricultural and recreational vehicle industries.

Belleville, Romulus lose highway funds

State income for highways, roads, streets and other transportation fell by 8.3 percent in the first quarter of 1982 compared to the same period of 1981, the Michigan Department of Transportation reported this week.

Among the big losers were the cities of Belleville and Romulus.

Belleville, during the first quarter of 1981, received $16,154.26, but lost almost $2,000 as compared to the same period this year. This year the city coffers received $14,496.22.

In the meantime, Romulus received $144,993.84 a year ago, but that figure dipped this year to $130,390.65.

It was the ninth consecutive quarter in which revenues from fuel and weight taxes were down from the same quarter a year earlier.

Income from Jan. 1 through March 31 totaled $179,520,086, down $16,261,854 from the $195,781,941 collected in the first three months of 1981.

Reduced driving during the harsher-than-usual winter as well as the continuing recession and the growth in the number of lighter-weight, more fuel-efficient autos and figured in the decline.

Gas tax receipts totaled $93.86 million, of by $9.55 million, or 9.2 percent, from $103.41 million collected a year ago. Diesel fuel taxes increased by $200,285, or 6.7 percent, to $3.2 million. Special fees paid by truckers in return for a six-cent-a-gallon rebate on the 11-cent diesel tax added $2.44 million, up by 3.3 percent.

Weight taxes on all vehicles produced $78.44 million, a decline of $5.48 million, or 6.5 percent.

Various grants, including collection costs and the annual $3.5 million allocation for retirement of bonds that financed construction of the Mackinac Bridge, totaled $17.1 million. That left $162.44 million for distribution for state, county and municipal road and street programs and for other transportation. The total was off 9.8 percent from 1981. The money is divided according to formula set by state law.

The State Trunkline Fund for construction and maintenance on the state highway system will receive $61,921,884 as its 38.4 percent share of net receipts. Proceeds are down 9.7 percent, or $6,652,801.

The 83 county road commissions will collect $53,891,737 as their 34.3 percent share, a decline of $5,926,966, or 9.9 percent. Cities and villages will receive $30,462,694 as their 19 percent portion, off by $3,348,976, or 0.0 percent.

The Comprehensive Transportation Fund, which supports bus and rail programs, will collect $13,391,142 as its 8.3 percent share of the total fund. Its revenue is down by $1,438,196, or 9.7 percent.

'Rosa Mystica'

The pilgrim statue 'Rosa Mystica' will be present at St. Aloysius Parish located at 11280 Ozga Road in Romulus.

Mass will be said at 6 p.m. on Sat., May 15.

Immediately after mass there will be a rosary recited in her honor for the intention of world peace.

Directions to St. Aloysius Parish from Detroit is as follows: Take I-94 to Wayne Road Exit. South on Wayne Road to Goddard Rd. Turn right on Goddard Road and follow through town to Neville Road. Turn right on Neville to the Church.

Church group holds garage sale

The women of People's Church in Canton will hold their second annual garage sale on Friday and Saturday, May 21-22, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The sale will take place at the minister's residence at 153 Corinne in Canton. The site is at the corner of Cherry Hill, between Lilley and Sheldon.

Again this year, organizers say, the unexpected as well as the commonplace will be available in abundance for treasure-seekers.

The sale will feature two special items — a 15-pound CDQ plow-type anchor with a 4-foot chain for boats up to 30 feet and a sewing machine mounted in an antique cabinet.

Several major appliances will be on sale, including a 36-inch gas range and a dishwasher, both in working order, and a washer, dryer and dishwasher needing some repair.

Also, while the supply lasts, everyone attending will receive a free gift.

The sale proceeds will be used by the church women to furnish the kitchen in the planned church building. A site has been purchased on Ford Road just west of Canton Center Road in Canton. People's Church, part of the Reformed Church in America, currently worships at Plymouth-Canton High School on Sundays at 10 a.m. The Pastor is the Rev. Harvey Heneveld.

For further details on the sale, call Mrs. Heidi Noyes, 728-2863.

Pope John Paul II to travel

Pope John Paul II is making a pilgrimage to Fatima, Portugal today (May 13), one year to the day after an assassination attempt was made on his life, and 65 years to the day after the appearance of Mary, the Virgin Mother of Christ, at Fatima, in which she made an appeal to all mankind to live moral lives and pray for world peace.

Various Marian groups in the Detroit area are now preparing an observance to be held at Blessed Sacrament Cathedral at 7:30 p.m. tonight in which the people of cording fees through the Register of Deeds office because continuing decline of real estate sales.

• A loss of $1.5 million previously considered reimbursable for Board administration, Child Study Clinic and mental health program at the County Jail. The expenses, now not expected, were to be paid by the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board which is state and federally funded.

• Reduced reimbursements amounting to $1.4 million from the state due to a ceiling on matchable expenditures imposed by the state for care of children in ADC and foster care programs.

The chief areas of overexpenditure are the loss from change of accounting method, and $4.9 million unexpected increase for medical treatment of adults due to changes in Medicaid eligibility requirements and economic conditions of the state. Also, the need to keep open a third floor at the jail annex because of a continuing high jail population will cost an additional $2.2 million, and some $2.5 million more is contemplated because of a 30 percent rate increase assessed by Blue Cross-Blue Shield for employee health insurance.

Fighting 69th seeks local unit members for reunion

The Fighting 69th Infantry Division Association has announced that its 35th annual reunion will be held August 15-22, at the Ramada Inn-Airport, 6401 S. 13th St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53221, Exit 319, I-94.

The organization is made up of World War II Veterans from all over the US who served in the 60th Infantry Division (BBB's) or its attached units, the 661st Tank Destroyer Battalion and the 777th Tank Battalion.

Activated at Camp Shelby, Mississippi in 1943, the 69th distinguished itself in Germany with the First Army with the capture of the City of Leipzig and making the famed link-up with the Russian Army at Torgau on the Elbe River to end World War II in Europe.

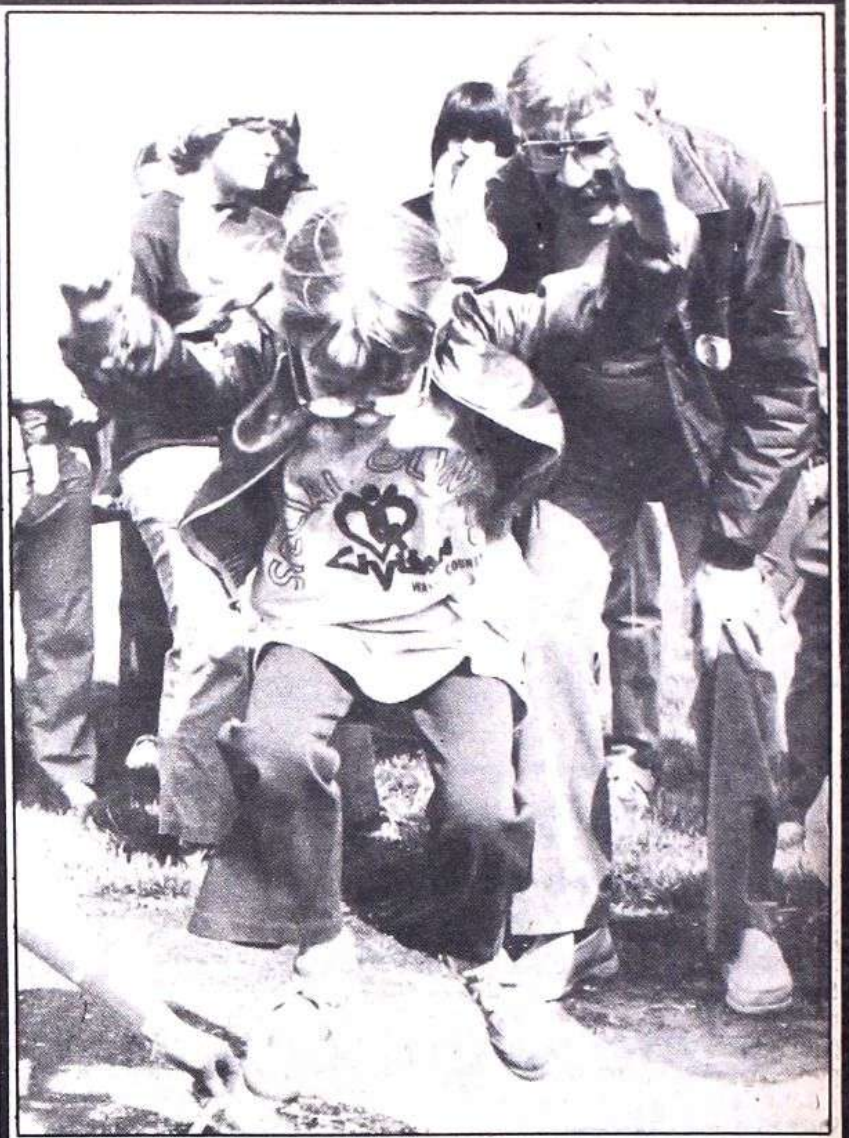

Co-chairmen in charge of this reunion are Vernon Wirth, Milwaukee, Wis. and Gaylord Thomas, Waupun, Wis. Scheduled events include meetings by the board of directors, ladies auxiliary and general memberships, tours, golf tourney, memorial service and the banquet dinner dance.

The Association's Scholarship Committee will award one or more scholarships at this reunion. This is an annual award to a deserving child of our membership.

General Charles L. Bolte, USA Retired, who organized, activated and trained the Division, is planning to attend.

Several hundred members and guests annually attend these reunions. This year a large turnout is anticipated with many first-time attendants from the mid-western states near Milwaukee.

Give it your all

Young athletes of all ages and sizes, armed with plenty of heart, the encouragement of "huggers" and the courage to try, did their best in some very special competition last Friday. While the thrill of their victories didn't make it national sports headlines, it was of interest to these very special athletes and the many people who made the 1982 Wayne County Special Olympics a success. The track and field and swimming competitions were held at Westland John Glenn High School on April 30. This eight-year-old contestant, who gave ANP Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko only her first name, Sherri, leaped for the gold medal — hopefully — with the encouraging words from Michigan Bell employee Haze Wilson.

Not everyone got to win an olympic medal last Friday at the Wayne County Special Olympics, but there were winners everywhere on the track and in the pool of John Glenn High Schools. The winners were the very special athletes who did their best in their chosen sport. However, stepping into the winner's circle for the 50-meter dash for 8- and 9-year olds were Angela Enriquez (top photo, from left), 9, first; Tonia James, 8, second; and Jennifer Tames, 9, third. Eleven-year-old Roy Mohrlock (center photo) did all the warmups necessary for a good toss in the Frisbee throw. — ANP photos by Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.

8 Belleville seniors nominated for awards

Eight students were nominated from the graduating class of June 1982 to receive the Phi Beta Kappa certificate award at Belleville High School.

The nominees are: Coreen Joyce Nodwell, of 42121 Riggs Rd., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nodwell; Jenna Lynn Oliver, of 13925 Haggerty Rd., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver; Kimiko Marie Snider, of 42111 Zachary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Snider and Thomas D. Steiger, of 17287 Haggerty Rd., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Steiger.

Also nominated are Mary Frances Walls, of 58 Wexford, daughter of Mr. Charles Walls; Toni Marie Wanshon, of 156 Rustic North, daughter of Mr. Edmond Wanshon; James L. Wertz, 88 North Biggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wertz; and Michael Thomas Winnie, of 45063 Robson Rd., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brender.

This sticker could save tot's life

FREE "TOT SPOT" window stickers which enable firemen and policemen to identify children's rooms in the event of an emergency are being made available at participating McDonald's Restaurants in southeastern Michigan.

The brightly colored stickers have been designed to be quickly spotted in an emergency. Self-adhesive materials make it easy to attach them to children's windows. McDonald's Restaurants in conjunction with station WKBD-TV (50), is sponsoring this free distribution of 300,000 Tot Spots for two weeks, starting May 10th, or as long as supplies last. The Tot Spots will be available at McDonald's Restaurants in Macomb, Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw, Livingston and St. Clair counties.

Knowing where a child's bedroom is located in an emergency helps the firemen because children are usually too small to help themselves... or too scared. Last year 50 children died in fires in Detroit alone. If help had reached them sooner, they might have been saved. By picking up a free Tot Spot at participating McDonald's Restaurants you will be helping the firefighters and policemen help you save the lives of your loved ones in an emergency.

Pope John Paul II to travel to Fatima

(Cont. from Page A-10) is on his pilgrimage. This prayer event will have the dual intention of praying for world peace, which is the central theme of the Fatima apparition of Mary, and of thanksgiving for the recovery of John Paul from the near fatal bullet wound he sustained May 13, 1981.

Devotees of Mary, the Mother of God, particularly those who have a special devotion to Mary in her most factually recorded apparition, that of Fatima in 1917, see particular significance in the Pope's pilgrimage, the date of the attack on his life, and the date of Mary's apparition, May 13 of that year. In her announced appearance to the three small Portuguese children in 1917, in the presence of thousands of onlookers, believers and sceptics, Mary instructed the children, and the world, to say the rosary for world peace.

At the same time, she warned that failure to do these things would have dire results — world troubles.

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

SCUBA DIVERS BEWARE

What does scuba diving have to do with dentistry? If you are a scuba diver, be sure to mention this to your dentist. Ask how the treatment you are having could affect you as a scuba diver. It could save you a lot of unnecessary pain and problems. For example:

If a scuba diver is being treated for root canal therapy which is temporized partially with cotton and he goes diving, complications can result — and most probably will. In diving, the atmospheric pressure changes. In fact, the pressure increases tremendously with each foot you descend. When air is trapped within the cotton fibers in a root canal, the air will expand when the diver surfaces resulting in a whopper of a toothache.

Even a filling which may have an air pocket can cause the diver problems on descent. The pressure is decreased (relative to the outside pressure of the water) and the air pocket is compressed. This could cause pain — and even result in an imploded tooth. In either case, the diver is going to need a dentist in a hurry. This may be a problem, especially if you like to dive off remote islands.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S., 9840 Haggerty Rd., Belleville. Phone 697-4400.

Michigan Week — Our state, right or wrong

Once again a number of local communities will participate in the annual Michigan Week activities, scheduled throughout next week.

But just what is Michigan Week? For those aware of this celebration, Michigan Week means Mayor's Exchange Day, or Government Day or any of a number of cleanup and hospitality affairs.

Michigan Week is a time when public officials learn about other communities in Michigan; when high school students assume city hall duties as mock elected officials and department chiefs; when local organizations mount massive beautification projects aimed at cleaning the parks and streets, and when citizens are given the opportunity to learn a bit more about their government.

Since such festivities occur annually, the Michigan Week program tends to be taken for granted. And that's a shame.

For Michigan Week reminds us that our system of government, and standard of life in general, remains the best on the face of the earth. The week's activities allow us to reflect on the positive aspects of our environment and take pride in our achievements.

Yes, despite the flaws and problems plaguing our way of life today, there are plenty of reasons to be thankful. Plenty of reasons to take the time to become more knowledgeable about the inner workings of government.

Only through such knowledge and concern can we continue to prod our state to greater accomplishments. We must continue to be involved not only in our government, but also in the preservation of the natural resources which distinguish Michigan as a truly beautiful state.

Michigan Week serves as a striking symbol of what community pride and effort truly mean. Such pride has never been more appropriate, because it is apathy, not unemployment or budget woes, that rates as our greatest enemy.

We are proud to live in Michigan and are committed to finding solutions to our varied shortcomings. That's what Michigan Week is all about.

Save baseball in Inkster

EDITOR — Five concerned volunteers met last week to discuss ways and means of how to save the Junior Baseball program in the City of Inkster. Having been informed that the recent cut in the Recreation budget will not provide the program the men face an awesome but not insurmountable task. There will be a meeting of all interested people Tuesday, May 18, at the Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt at 7:00 p.m. Booker Dozier, retired Athletic Supervisor of the Recreation Department is heading the effort.

"We need Managers, Coaches, Balls, Bats, etc." It would be tragic to not have a competitive baseball program in the City for this age group (11 to 16).

We have been assured of full cooperation from Lewis Jackson, the Parks and Recreation Director. However, he (Jackson) states that there is no money in the budget for this program that has been in existence for the past 31 years.

Joining Dozier in the effort are Glen Belcher, Dwight Hotchkiss, Al Rice, Ron Fowler, Pat Elvie.

Interested persons may call the Recreation Department at 728-7530 Monday thru Thursday, 3:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. for further information.

Free advice about crime in the communities

By BERNARD F. HILLENBRAND

You get more than you bargain for when you call Maureen Booth's toll-free anti-crime hotline. All her advice on crime prevention requires strong volunteer effort.

When you call (800) 368-5664, she will cite a thousand ways concerned citizens — from New York to Seattle — are organizing to stop crime in their own communities.

"Neighbors stop more burglaries than police have, and that's a fact," says this dynamic young woman, who has been organizing her community for years. "Most people have heard about our techniques, like block watches and street patrols, but few realize how effective they are."

Booth promotes both via the hotline, weekdays between 9:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. (EST), as part of her work for the Eisenhower Foundation for the Prevention of Violence. It is a private, non-profit group headed by Milton S. Eisenhower. The foundation grew from a presidential commission established during the Johnson Administration. "Neighborhood violence is out of control," Eisenhower said recently. "Our goal is to help those who help themselves. Most law enforcement agencies are understaffed. They are not always in a position to respond to anything but emergencies. We want more citizens to emulate neighborhood organizations that have found practical ways to reduce crime."

NEIGHBOR AGAINST NEIGHBOR

"Unless you live in an extremely affluent suburb, most thieves won't go out of their way to burglarize you," Booth says. "We teach people to recognize the nature of their problems. If a person is missing heirloom jewelry, they have been struck by pros. If the stereo's gone, it's probably young adults, and they won't live too far away. Often people know who's stealing, but they're afraid to get involved."

"The kids, meanwhile, know the juvenile justice system better than their victims. They know that when you make a report to the police you have to follow up. When a community gets itself organized, there is more pressure to prosecute. The folks in the neighborhood who are causing the trouble realize they're not going to get away with things anymore. They see you're not an easy target. So they say, 'Why not move three blocks over?'"

A Gary, Ind. woman called the hotline to complain about a rowdy crowd that nightly assembled in front of the corner tavern to sell drugs, hang out and harass passers-by. "We knew neighborhoods in Gary were tightly organized along ward lines," Booth explained. "So we contacted a Gary community organization that was able to help."

Mrs. Booth has heard from people in communities as diverse as Mount Clemens, Mich.; Terre Haute, Ind.; and Orangeburg, S.C. She gets 50 to 80 calls a week from people eager to set up self-help networks. For block watches, patrols and escort services for the elderly can add a social order lost from American life. They increase family cohesion and create a sense of territory. They establish an environment less likely to breed crime.

IT'S HARD WORK
Neighborhood building isn't easy. Merely holding one block watch meeting requires finding a location, and the wind seems to blow the bobber the wrong way. We have the dam on Haggerty Road—parking is great if you have a tank.

Wake up Belleville, Van Buren and environs—think of the money you are losing on us worthless shore fishermen!

What about a park for us—with bathrooms, parking.

A Belleville City park—seems there's land for sale near the bridge!

Do you enjoy losing food, clothing, bait and gas customers?

One of the reasons I picked Belleville to live was the Lake for fishing. I'd like to spend my money there instead of buying and relying on the benefits of State and Metro Park stickers.

Belleville Lake: No place for the shore fisherman?

As a shore fisherman of Belleville Lake, I protest being banned.

Who are the shore fishermen—the blacks, some white men, white women and children.

I guess the snobs that own land on the Lake or own a boat want the Lake all to themselves.

Even us shore fishermen paid for the clean-up of the Lake by our taxes. This protestor's family helped load and bag dead fish from the Lake that the D.N.R. picked up by boat.

After the first skirmishes by the police to ticket and discourage the shore fishermen, the D.N.R. park on Huron River Drive was opened—free. Now it is not free and is open a limited number of months.

It is a lousy place to fish—wrong location and too much boat traffic.

I also hate Van Buren Park—no fish—

Here's why we need PCHA

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

The lady may be discreet, but she can also stir up a lot of controversy. Just by submitting one bill.

That's what Joyce Symonds, a state rep, and a Democrat at that, did recently when she introduced House Bill 5143 for debate amongst her colleagues.

Now 5143 wouldn't shock the ordinary person — those who have little or nothing to do with the PCHA. The PCHA, is, of course, the Peoples Community Hospital Authority, an authority established to serve the needs of residents in the Romulus-Belleville-Van Buren-Sumpter-Inkster-Huron-and Wayne.

Symonds' bill recommends that the PCHA eliminate the .4 mills that member communities pay for use of the authority's hospitals and medical facilities. Instead of the four-tenths of a mill which has helped the PCHA amass millions of dollars, she recommends the assessment be abolished and that a vote of a people would be necessary before communities could be assessed for capital improvements.

Mayor Patrick Norton of Wayne points out that if Ms. Symonds gets her way, it could have a gloomy effect on an already disastrous Michigan economy and could possibly destroy an excellent hospital system which the PCHA has taken years to build.

"First of all, I don't think Ms. Symonds understands the ramifications in what she's doing. Her bill, if approved, would destroy the credit rating of this state. PCHA's capital improvements bonds are pledged to repay. Now, if the state legislators are going to pass bills eliminating the bonded funding for millions of dollars worth of hospital authority bonds that are sold on the New York Bond Market, what is the bond market going to think of the state of Michigan?"

"If the State of Michigan changes its horses in mid-stream — and that's what the Symonds' bill would do — it would eliminate .4 of a mill which is pledged against bonded indebtedness in the N.Y. Bond Market, those selling the bonds could say 'the hell with Michigan.'"

Norton, who has been a member of the PCHA's advisory board for more than 15 years, pointed out that "even if we gave back the money, the cities would have to return it to the people because it's a special assessment and couldn't be turned over to the general fund."

"And for about $5.50 a year households are getting health care service right in their communities. Where can you beat that? I'm wondering what the people would say if we closed down these hospitals like the auto industry had to do with some of their plants."

If Ms. Symonds doesn't have time to read this, we hope her colleagues in Lansing do.

ing with churches and other citizen's groups to develop telephone assurance, and block watch systems.

PUBLIC - PRIVATE COOPERATION

"The 70s saw a number of neighborhoods set up anti-crime programs," says Lynn Curtis, foundation director. "In spite of their potential, these public sector efforts are being cut back. Now it's up to the private sector to pick up the slack." The Eisenhower Foundation is but one participant. Southland Corporation's Seven-11 stores have won awards for crime prevention. The chain's Willow Grove, Pa., district offers free pamphlets to customers, trains cab drivers to alert police or suspicious activity and conducts seminars for community groups or businessmen. They also have vigorous in-store security.

Three Little Rock, Ark., utility companies cooperate with police on "Operation Crime Watch," a program that has made utility crewmen roving eyes for crime.

The Philadelphia House of Umoja has trained 140 men as foot patrols. They offer volunteer neighborhood surveillance, escort seniors, and contract as security guards for local stores.

In New York, the Senior Citizen's Anti-Crime Network puts retired people with walkie-talkies on the street. Their reports are relayed to police via CB radio. Baltimore CB operators are also on the watch.

COMMUNITY HARASSMENT

With a sigh, Booth reports "There's also a lot of harassment out there. People call me asking for advice on home protection during vacations. When I tell them to have a neighbor look in, they say 'Why, I wouldn't trust that...'"

"People are driving each other crazy over things that have little to do with basic honesty," she said, shaking her head. Some examples:

"A neighbor shovels his snow on someone else's walk. A man erects poles two stories high so his laundry will hang before the neighbor lady's living room. She returns the favor by screaming ethnic epithets. They end up in court. Another backs a car into his neighbor's hedge as a reminder of a long-standing grudge."

Can be certain of death, taxes

EDITOR — Does anyone else out there feel like they're being set up?

Well, I certainly do! I read today that the next payment of State Aid to schools will be delayed causing some school districts to have payless pay-days.

That seems strange because I didn't see where any state employees may have payless pay-days. I thought we had a state budget problem. After all, school taxes just went up because of State Equalized Valuation.

The truth of the matter seems to be: someone in Lansing wants taxpayers to pressure their Senators into passing an income tax increase "to save the schools."

The truth also is that property taxes just catapulted and, when that happens, the State's School Aid shrinks by the same amount that a city's taxes increase. Therefore, our surging property taxes have decreased the burden on Lansing and not on our own school district.

Incredible isn't it? Now, they threaten to hold back on these reduced school aid payments.

The State of Michigan has 20 departments. It also has 94

Boards and Commissions. They range from the State Board of Marriage Counselors to the Ski Area Safety Board, and I haven't heard of a single one missing a meeting or suffering pay concessions.

I personally feel that before the state decides to cut my kids' teachers, it had better trim its well intentioned services according to a realistic priority list.

Education is the most important responsibility of any state government.

Mr. Turner, where are you...?

EDITOR — A Letter to the Editor from a Mr. Bob Turner appeared in the Associated Newspapers, "Your Opinions" section on April 1, 1982.

Mr. Turner's address did not appear and we checked all available sources for his address. As we are unable to contact him, we ask for your help in delivering to him a brochure, "Questions and Answers About Taxes and Spending in Michigan," which will aid him with answers to his questioning statements.

I have been presenting the enclosed material to many individuals and groups and most stated they have benefitted by reading the text.

Why did V-B hire Bartell?

EDITOR — I am writing in regards to the decision of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees to hire an outside firm, Bartell and Bartell, to investigate the police department and hire a Chief of Police.

During my 21 years tenure with the Van Buren Township Police, to my knowledge, legal action was never taken against the department for any wrongdoings. The department was highly recommended by the Wayne County Prosecutors and various police agencies such as Wayne County Sheriff and Belleville Police.

It is my belief, therefore, that the department was, and is, operating to the best of its ability.

Since I lived in Van Buren Township most of my life, I am knowledgeable as to its potential for future growth and needs for adequate police protection. Therefore, I do realize the township board's desire to hire a capable, efficient person to head the department as Chief of Police.

However, with today's economic problems, I fail to comprehend the need to have an outside firm, based in Pennsylvania, research and interview applicants to fill this position.

In my 21 years of service, I worked with many highly qualified officers. I am of the opinion that a qualified, experienced person could be chosen to be Chief of Police from within the department itself at no extra cost to the taxpayers of the community.

Glide Pilots of World War II

EDITOR — A search is on to locate all former military Glider Pilots of World War II. These were the pilots who flew the Army Air Force CG-4A combat gliders and had a "G" on their silver wings.

So far we have located about 2500 of the original 6000 men who qualified to fly gliders. Our association was formed ten years ago, holds annual reunions, publishes a quarterly newspaper called "Silent Wings", maintains a museum, and has restored a CG-4A which is assembled in Dallas.

We are a unique and extinct group since there were so few of us and there will be no more of us.

All military Glider pilots of WWII are urged to contact me at the following address. I would also appreciate hearing from anyone who has information concerning our glider comrades killed in action or since deceased.

We are a non-profit veterans organization and will deeply appreciate your assistance in locating the above.

Eloise should be preserved

EDITOR — I was very pleased to see the expression of Edith James in favor of preserving the Eloise complex and adapting it to other uses. Having been a member of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, it is clear to me that this is an effort that should be made and could very well be successful.

I plan to work to help obtain the proper historic designation for this complex and other worthy sites throughout Wayne County.

If it becomes necessary to bring in expert testimony before the Commission to accomplish this, it will be my pleasure to do so. You are not alone Mrs. James.

Mime artist was a treat

EDITOR — The residents of Van Buren Township and Belleville were treated to a delightful performance last week as the noted pantomime artist, Robert Post, performed his array of marvelous acts.

Post was brought to Michigan by the Affiliate Artists. This non-profit organization helps bring performing artists to various communities in the United States.

The Affiliate Artists, in conjunction with the Van Buren Township Parks & Recreation Department's Residency Training program is a week-long series of "informances" by a performing artist, in this case, Robert Post.

Post performed at various locations during the week in the Van Buren Township area, culminating in a public performance at Belleville High School auditorium on Saturday evening.

With an audience of 400, Post, used a variety of disciplines usually not associated with classic pantomime. He opened with an exceptional juggling act of three balls. Later, he also juggled three special sticks called "Chinese devil sticks" in a manner that drew many favorable comments from the audience.

Post's other acts included several skits. One, "The Magician's Contest", was unique in that he played two characters at once, a "hip, young, polished" magician, and a "gnarled, old wizard", in a contest.

The fun part of it was the audience participation, as they were instructed to pick sides and cheer or boo for the respective magician. In another skit "Tall", he played Bob Freeman, a very tall, ill-fitting character reminiscent of Post himself, as he points out. Bob is at a party in which he finds himself getting even taller.

The single thing that distinguished Post from many other performers is his informal, personal relationships with his audience. He often used witticisms and sarcastic stares directed at individuals between and during acts. This seemed to help make each person feel more comfortable in his presence. He also refrains from using makeup, which, he claims, inhibits his feelings and detracts from the effectiveness of his performance.

All in all, Post's informances were truly memorable ones, and everyone agreed that it was well worth it and I would like to thank Van Buren Township Arts Council for bringing such great talent into our community.

Poppy Days are special

EDITOR — A majority of units in the American Legion Auxiliary will hold their annual Poppy Day in May.

It's a special day to those in the Auxiliary, a day that represents one of the basic principles of the organization.

The poppy ladies on the street corner are familiar... but sometimes the public just accepts the day each year when red, white, and blue lapel streamers identify the Auxiliary and Poppy Day. Some of our own members aren't aware of the historical significance of this day.

The memorial flower, adopted by The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary in 1921, was derived from a poem by a Canadian citizen who did not survive World War I. The familiar poem, "IN FLANDERS FIELD," was written by John McCrae.

The first poppies were manufactured in devastated areas of France, shipped to the United States, and the funds from their distribution on Memorial Day were used for needy children. At that time, hospitalized veterans in hospitals produced them.

In 1924, The American Legion gave the Auxiliary complete charge of the program.

American Legion Auxiliary poppies are still being made by disabled veterans in VA Medical Centers, nursing homes, soldiers and sailors homes, in special convalescent workshops and in their own homes.

All funds received from poppy distribution go directly for aid to disabled veteran and members of their family.

The Auxiliary ladies will be out on the streets in the Waltz and New Boston areas Thursday, May 20th, and in many other areas. Won't you help a good cause?

Coverage of mime was great

Editorial — During the last week in April, Van Buren Township was in the midst of a Community Artist Residency Training (C.A.R.T.) week. C.A.R.T. is a program in which local arts councils are able to have a performing artist come into their community for a full week of informances (an informal performance). These informances are held at schools, club organizational meetings, factory sites and anywhere else an audience might already exist.

Robert Post, a mime, was brought into Van Buren Township by our new Van Buren Township Community Arts Council. It would take many newspaper columns inches to thank all of the people who had contributed and donated their time, efforts, and money to make this program the success that it was.

However, I must give a special thanks to the people in the Arts Council especially Beth Barnhill Booher, Karen & Lou Grech, Sandy Askew, Elvis Smith, Jim Lightfoot and Sue Misra for the tremendous amounts of help they gave me and our community in our first successful arts program.

Please watch for other programs sponsored through Van Buren Township Arts Council.

Also, we would like to thank the Associated Newspaper and the Belleville Enterprise for your great newspaper coverage.

The spirit of man

HEMET, CALIF. — Today as I sit on the patio looking toward the magnificent Mt. San Jacinto reaching its snow-capped peak towards the heavens, I have been thinking a lot about the spirit of man.

Somehow that mountain makes me want to dig deep inside of me and think about meanings; the meaning of life, the meaning of love, the meaning of just being able to think about meaning and the spirit of man and other philosophical things that tugs at one.

I don't think I am the only one who has felt that "something" in this desert valley surrounded by rolling hills and majestic mountains, for someone, a long long time ago, dubbed this area "The Foothills of Heaven."

There is a mystique that lies over the land as the haze sometimes envelopes the mountains and I find myself reaching out with my heartstrings for that elusive something which dances outside my psyche and I can't grasp. I can only feel.

This morning the sky is bright blue, spotted here and there by fleecy white clouds, and as I watch the gentle breeze in the palm trees, I think about the spirit of man.

For yesterday I saw it in action.

Yesterday I sat in the waiting room of the oncology department, waiting for my sister to get her shot of chemo. Sometimes it takes awhile. And I expect that my sister was the source of my thinking, for I never fail to marvel at her, as she fights the insidious enemy that is attempting to destroy her. Each morning she greets the day, her face glowing from a good night's sleep, and the makeup she instantly applies on getting out of bed.

And as I watched her yesterday walk into that hospital room, her long legs carrying her with that graceful, easy swing that has always characterized her movements; the collar of her gold blouse reaching up to touch the gold of her hair, her gold earrings gleaming on her ears, I saw that all eyes turned towards her and followed her progress from the waiting room, through the door, into that inner sanctum where the ordeal of the chemo awaited her.

"Are you waiting for treatment," a woman asked me.

"No, I am waiting for my sister," I told her.

"Was that your sister?" she asked.

"Yes."

"She is beautiful. How long has she had cancer?"

"Thirteen years," I told her. "Thirteen years with remissions."

She leaned forward on her cane. Her long, straight white hair fell over her face and over her hands. Her dark eyes were sad, and her face was pain-etched. At last she looked up at me.

"I've been fighting the stuff for fifteen years," she said. "I'm 80 years old and it's not going to get me. They've taken a part of my bladder, they've taken a kidney, and they've taken a part of my lung, but they haven't taken my heart, and that, my girl, is pumping away as good as ever. I got a lot of things I've got to do, especially now that my husband is recovered from his stroke. We want to see something of the world. So, it's not going to get me!"

"Mrs. Cramer," the nurse called.

"Here I am," the old woman answered and leaned forward on her cane.

"Oh, oh. Here honey, do you think you can help me get up? I seem to have a hitch in my leg..."

Before I could reach her, the

nurse had helped her to her feet.

"I think it's these shoes I'm wearing..." her voice came back to me as the door closed on her.

The spirit of man. That thing within us that rises up and meets adversity, and refuses to recognize one's vulnerability to the adversary.

Call it courage, call it strength... whatever it is, I saw it there in that room yesterday. I looked at each patient waiting his turn. Some were knitting, some were working crossword puzzles, some were reading, and some were just laughing and talking, but not in one single face did I see despair. There was hope and the will to overcome the enemy.

What I saw in that room yesterday, what I felt in that room, and what I see here in my sister's home, is the reason I am sitting on the patio in the warm sunlight, looking towards the mountains and thinking about the spirit of man. The unquenchable spirit of man.

There are sparkling tiaras, Gucci luggage, Pucci pens, tins of caviar and Gen. Douglas MacArthur paperweights... with the whole blooming total worth more than my calculator can register.

I suppose in the scheme of things the Metropolitan Opera fits in there somewhere, but flaunt such wealth in the face of an entire country screaming, "help" is an obscenity beyond anything even Jerry Falwell could dream up. I'll strike my blow for civilization somewhere else, thanks.

To further the cause of mediocrity, they're cancelling "Barney Miller," "Lou Grant," "WKRP," and "Taxi."

To further the cause of quality, I'm cancelling them (the stations).

On shorthand and other things

BITS & PIECES:

To Bonnieta Simko: Sorry that you misread my column, which was about the obsolescence of shorthand, not secretaries. Having been a secretary myself for several years—including a stint as an administrative secretary at an Ivy League college—I know what a tough but challenging job it is.

I've been in enough offices and been around enough secretaries to know that rarely can an office run without the secretary—but the boss can go off for days at a time and scarcely be missed. Still, there are few offices where the secretaries aren't horrendously overworked and criminally underpaid.

Which is precisely my point. There are times, of course where shorthand would come in handy. But it should be at the secretary's discretion, not the boss's.

She shouldn't have to drop everything to run into the boss's office, pad in hand, whenever inspiration hits him. Not when he could speak those very same inspired words into a machine, and the tape could then be transcribed when the secretary had time for it.

Granted, there are situations where the tape must be transcribed immediately—and you are right, you probably can type from notes as fast as I can from a tape. But by using a tape, the first step has been eliminated. The actual taking down of the notes. The tape recorder has done it for you, while you were busy doing other things.

As to my question, "Can we talk a little about shorthand?", the "we" was intentional. In admitting my ignorance of shorthand, I was hoping we could get a dialogue going—and we did just that, didn't we?

I went out to the mailbox the other day and found a letter for me from the Metropolitan Opera Association. On the outside it said, "This envelope contains jewels, furs, automobiles, vacations..."

What was really inside was a book of raffle tickets. I am supposed to sell raffle tickets to further the cause of the Met. On the booklet cover it says, "Here are ten chances to strike a blow for civilization."

I don't know what that means and I sure don't know how they got my name. I gave up on opera when Mario Lanza died.

Nonetheless, there it is—and the tickets carry a suggested contribution of $2.50 each. Suggested, because they can't really conduct a raffle through the mails. So technically I could send the tickets back without the contribution and still qualify for any one of the 3,333 prizes.

I might just do that, too, if I weren't afraid of winning one of the non-exchangeable prizes.

First prize is a 91 carat golden yellow sapphire "fit for a king" and worth $60,000. Then there is a 1982 Givenchy Lincoln Continental donated by the Ford Motor Company (yes, the same) and worth $25,000. Then a black Russian broadtail evening coat trimmed in grey chinchilla and valued at $18,000, a $10,000 Savonnerie rug, an 18-carat gold Tiffany brooch with diamonds

Detroit rock 'n' roll revisited

MC5
"Kick Out the Jams"
THE STOOGES
"The Stooges"
THE STOOGES
"Fun House"
(Elektra Records)

Thank God for reissues. That is, records that have long been out-of-print that are available again, and at a discount price at that. First came both classic albums by the infamous New York Dolls, forerunners of England's punk movement. Then CBS re-released Iggy's "Raw Power" album, one of the LOUDEST LP's ever. Not bad; records that go for upwards of $15 at record conventions are suddenly available for around $4 at local outlets. And now Elektra Records decides to release these three albums. I can't understand it—I'm not used to such good judgement from record companies! But let's not look a gift horse in the mouth, but rather buy 'em and crank up your stereo to some REAL Detroit rock 'n' roll.

Ol' Fred Nugent might be faster, but he never could come near Ron Asheton in feeling, and while Bob Seger may croon an OK tune now and again, Iggy Stooze (nee Pop) would rip him to shreds in seconds. And as for the notorious MC 5, well, what can you say? Except that "Kick Out The Jams" is a searing testimonial to Detroit, Rock 'n' Roll, and of course, the Sixties. Yep, this is the record that was banned at Hudson's due to a word or two they felt obscene, which prompted the band to put a full-page ad in the FIFTH ESTATE telling Hudson's what they thought of them.

Hudson's responded by banning ALL Elektra products, so they in turn told the band what they thought of them. This reissue, by the way, is the original, NOT the "Kick out the jams BROTHERS AND SISTERS" censored version. Even censored though, "Kick Out The Jams" had to be the dirtiest song ever to become an AM hit. Also one of the best songs ever to become an AM hit.

60's radical (and the MC 5's manager) John Sinclair's rap ends with the now-famous line "I give you, a testimonial, the MC5!" and in come the dual screaming guitars of Fred "Sonic" Smith and Wayne "Air Raid" Kramer, fighting it out with Rob Tyner's voice for supremacy on "Ramblin' Rose," and then right into "Kick Out the Jams."

Meanwhile, up in Ann Arbor, Iggy & The Stooges were building quite a reputation for themselves too, enough of one to get signed anyway. Iggy, the Asheton brothers, Ron and Scott, and bassist Dave Alexander formed what was to be one the most legendary of bands.

Everybody, but everybody knows someone who was there when the Ig smeared peanut butter all over himself and dove into the crowd. The most striking photo I've ever seen was of Iggy walking on a sea of hands, some thirty feet or so from the stage at some rock festival in Ohio. He never touched the ground either.

But these two albums do; raw rock at it's grittiest. "I Wanna Be Your Dog," "1969," "No Fun," "T.V. Eye"...classics one and all. Who can resist lyrics as dumb as "Last year I was 21/Didn't have a lot of fun/Now I'm gonna be 22/ I say 'oh my and-boo-hoo?'" Ok, ok, so maybe they are resistible, but they sure are lots of fun.

This is VITAL stuff, these three albums. And for about five bucks a shot, it's affordable stuff too.

'Das Boot' tells a powerful story

DAS BOOT a Bavaria-Atleier Production, released through Columbia Pictures. Written and Directed by Wolfgang Petersen. Starring Jurgen Prochnow, Herbert Grönemeyer, Erwin Leder. (no rating).

By J.T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

The German film "Das Boot" ("The Boat") portrays the men aboard a U-boat during the early days of World War II, in a personal way, without gloss or sensationalism.

These men were mostly under 30 years old. As with most young men going off in the early days of a war, they were brash, tough and hopeful.

Although the U-boats were the terror of the North Atlantic for the first few years of the war, they were soon hunted down by sonar and the ceaseless assault of depth charges. Of the 40,000 men who went to sea in U-boats, only 10,000 returned alive.

"Das Boot" was the most expensive and most successful German film ever made. Sets depicting the base from which the U-boats are launched, and the several authentically staged battle scenes attest to the film's hefty production budget.

Writer-director Wolfgang Petersen presents a sample voyage of one of these boats, and graphically shows the claustrophobic horror the crew had to endure — rotten food, no shower facilities and cramped bunks in which men took sleep shifts.

Petersen keeps the 2½ hour film moving at a brisk pace. He avoids moralizing or philosophizing.

Like Sam Fuller's "The Big Red One," "Das Boot" takes a place as one of the best films about men in war produced in any country.

Cupid's Pizza

Specialty provides 'love at first bite', owner promises

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

"We have no quarrel with those who give their pizza away. After all, they know what it is really worth!"

These words, prominent on a sign overlooking the ovens at Cupid's Pizza, represent the philosophy of owner Sam Harb. Simply stated, Harb warns consumers to be aware of the buy-one-get-one-free promotion that has become popular in the competitive pizza business.

"As an introductory offer, that's fine but you can't maintain it (buy-one-get-one-free) on a weekly basis," declared Harb. "You can't give food away and maintain quality. Those who are doing it are cutting corners someplace."

After operating Cupid's Pizza for a number of years in Wayne, Harb moved the business to 2708 South Newburgh (north of Glenwood) in Westland one year ago.

In addition to the pizza selections, Cupid's features a diversified carryout menu that includes barbecued ribs (10.95 a whole slab), chicken (two to 24 pieces available), a variety of submarine sandwiches, antipasto salad ($3.49 for a serving for two) and the latest additions, lasagna and ravioli dinners ($3.75).

Beverages and side orders, such as cole slaw (45 cents), fried mushrooms ($1.75) and homemade onion rings ($1.40) also are offered.

But it's the pizza that Harb is most proud of.

"All I ask people to do is taste it," Harb said. "Once they do, they'll stick with me. We get a large number of repeat customers here."

"The cheese on our pizzas is comparable to the double cheese at some places," observed Harb, who began his restaurant career some six years ago when he opened a sandwich eatery in Ypsilanti. "Everything is made right here."

"Pizza is a complete nutritious meal with meat, vegetables, natural cheese and dough—it's not junk food."

Harb plans to soon market a new whole wheat pizza that will feature natural ingredients and be distributed to local health food stores through the Jerusalem Brand

Manufacturing firm in Westland.

Cupid's pizzas rate larger than many competitors', with a small version measuring 12 inches, a medium 14 inches and a large 16 inches. A seven-inch mini-pizza is priced at $3.95 for a package of three and does the trick for "the midnight munchies," Harb noted.

As an introductory special, Cupid's offers a small pizza with one item for $2.99.

Business hours are from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. Friday and Saturday, and closed on Sunday. For deliveries, contact Harb or assistant manager Judy Fenix at 595-6670.

According to Cupid's motto, those who try the specialty at this tiny restaurant will experience "love at first bite."

'Harvey' visits the stage

A six-foot rabbit and a number of local performers are featured in the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "Harvey" at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Central Middle School in Plymouth.

Harvey, as the story goes, appears to those who have taken a drink now and then through the years. His friendship with Elwood Dowd provides the basis for some entertaining scenes, even though the title character never appears.

Patti Troth, a teacher consultant for the Inkster public school system, will make her directing debut in this play. Her past stage credits include work as a producer and assistant director for several Plymouth Guild productions.

John Scherbarth of Canton will portray Elwood Dowd and Clemie

Cyburt, a lifetime member of the Guild, is cast as Veta Simmons.

Other Canton residents featured are Linda Pavey-Amerman, Gail Lynn Mesner and Wayne Belzer. Beth Crouson of Wayne will make her Plymouth debut in the role of Nurse Kelley.

Pavey-Amerman serves as publicity chairperson on the board of governors for the Guild and played the challenging role of the mute in this season's "The Fantasticks." "Harvey" will mark Mesner's first stage appearance in 12 years and the first performance in Plymouth for Belzer.

Tickets may be purchased by calling 981-4658 or 348-0988. "Harvey" will be the third and final production of the 1981-82 Plymouth Theatre Guild season.

Chinese salad — meal in a bowl

For change of pace dining, stir up an Oriental-flavored main dish salad. Home economists at La Choy Food Products have created Hot Chinese Salad to stretch leftover ham, but any leftover cooked meat can be substituted. This meal-in-a-bowl, perfect for a weekend supper, features rice, water chestnuts and cheese with a combination of Occidental and Oriental seasonings that will appeal to every palate.

Hot Chinese Salad

2 cups diced cooked ham, chicken or other meat
1/2 cup thinly sliced La Choy Water Chestnuts
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup shredded Cheddar Cheese
Chopped parsley

Cook rice in butter over low heat until lightly browned. Add water, onion, soy sauce and garlic; mix well. Cover; cook 20 minutes or until rice is tender and liquid absorbed. Add ham and water chestnuts; heat thoroughly. Remove from heat and add remaining ingredients. Serve hot. Garnish with parsley. Makes 4 to 6 serving.

2 cups uncooked regular rice
2 teaspoons butter
1 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons La Choy Soy Sauce
2 small cloves garlic, minced

Club officers installed

The April meeting of the GFWC-MSFWC Belleville Junior Study Club was held at the Church Street home of Nancy Sawyer. The meeting was attended by 15 members and guests. This being the final business meeting of the clubyear, several pending projects were finalized. On the agenda for the evening were plans to attend the annual MSFWC Convention in Marquette May 14-17 and a commitment to host the Southeastern District Convention (MSFWC) in the fall, 1983.

Installation of officers for the 1982-84 club year followed. In keeping with the theme "Beginning and End", each outgoing officer installed her incoming replacement. Immediate past president, Cathy Horste, was presented with an autographed copy of "Unity in Diversity", the newly-published history of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, as a token of thanks for her service.

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

This is one of those weeks, folks, -- nuthin' in particular to beef about -- the grocery shopping expedition went without a hitch and I didn't even overbuy and then panic and have to have the checkout gal sub-total me a couple times.

My l-o-n-g overdue visit to the eye-guy revealed that my orbs had gotten quite a bit older and that it's STILL a mind-boggling task to pick out new frames.

My sprained hand (still on-the-mend) is allowing me the privilege of doing just about anything -- but golf. And I'm trying to see the bright side of this -- that it could have happened just BEFORE our vacation and not just after!

We didn't get our little Matt during his mom and dad's stay in Bermuda ('twas the "other grandparents" turn) but, as of last Thursday, we were going to have him his parents and two aunts for Mother's Day.

Dinner "out" with the Smith clan the other night resulted in about the slowest service this side of the Mason-Dixon Line considering it was a Tuesday and the place was not booming. But we did manage a lot of conversation and catching up during the void.

And something we never expected to happen happened! We rated a refund on our federal income tax. Not only that but we received our check already! And, having gotten our return in just before the deadline, I'd say that's mighty quick work for the ol' IRS. So -- chalk up one for the Fed.

WHERE'D WE GET THAT WORD?

If it's the word "golf" you're taking time to wonder about (and what could be more timely?) here's the scoop as found for us by William and Mary Morris, of Morris Dictionary of Word and Phrase Origins fame.

Amazing as it seems, golf was introduced in America only 94 years ago -- in 1888. The first players were an immigrant Scotsman, John

McClelland receives U-M degree,
Air Force commission on same day

Timothy James McClelland, the son of Phyllis and James McClelland of 118 Bedell, Belleville, graduated cum laude from the University of Michigan the morning of May 1 and was commissioned an officer in the U.S. Air Force the same afternoon.

McClelland's bachelor of science degree is in aerospace engineering and he was chosen by that department to attend a luncheon for Col. Jack Lousma prior to the astronaut's speech at Rackham Auditorium recently, as Col. Lousma is also a University of Michigan Aerospace graduate.

At the recent U-M Tri-Service Awards Ceremony, McClelland was awarded the Grumman Aircraft Award for being the outstanding pilot candidate at the U-M Air Force detachment. He will report to Sheppard AFB, Texas in November when the next class of the new Euro-Nato Joint Jet Pilot Training (ENJJPT) program commences. This is a specialized program for top pilot candidates from the 12 NATO nations and will be primarily for training fighter pilots for NATO assignments. Instructors and supervisors, as well as student pilots, will be a multi-national mix.

While waiting to report to Sheppard for the ENJJPT program, the new officer will continue his work in research for the University of Michigan's Aerospace Department. He is a 1978 graduate of Belleville High School.

EMU confers
1,327 degrees

Eastern Michigan conferred degrees upon 1,327 students April 24 at spring commencement ceremonies in Bowen Field House on the EMU campus.

Some 967 seniors were candidates for bachelor's degrees and approximately 360 graduate students were eligible to receive advanced degrees. The cum laude list included Roy B. Pettus Jr. and Edwinus Van Vianen, both of Belleville.

Candidates for bachelor's degrees were the following Belleville students: John D. Dudick of 42999 E. Huron River Drive, BBA; Vicky D. Gano, P.O. Box 432, BS; Cathleen Ann Hoeft, 133 Wabash, BS; Mary L. Ivan, 105 S. Biggs, BS;

Helton-Flanagan marry;
Belleville Mayor presides

Double ring vows were exchanged April 17 by Patricia Ann Flanagan and Rodney Brian Helton before the Hon. Justin Emerson, Mayor of Belleville, at the Belleville City Hall.

The 12:30 ceremony united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raborn T. Flanagan of Willis Road, Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Helton of Karr Road, Belleville.

For her wedding day, the bride donned a formal-length white gown designed with a lace-trimmed neckline and long sleeves with lace at the wrists.

Her waist-length veil of silk illusion was accented with Chantilly lace and was secured by a matching lace headband. Completing her bridal ensemble were one dozen long-stemmed pink roses, baby's breath and fern.

Denise Welt of Belleville was maid of honor in a long peach-colored frock enhanced with lace at the neckline and waist. The bouquet she held was comprised of pink roses, baby's breath and greenery. Nancy Helton, the bridegroom's mother, served as attendant.

Following the wedding, a reception for some 40 guests was held at the Coppertree Apartments Clubhouse in Taylor. Mrs. Delphia Flanagan wore a pink ensemble as she greeted relatives and friends and Mrs. Helton, the bridegroom's mother, was in blue.

A 1974 graduate of Belleville High School, the new Mrs. Helton is employed by Sumpter Township. She is a member of the Order of Eastern Star, Chapter 73, of Belleville.

A 1978 Belleville High School graduate, her husband is currently working at Wayne County Community College.

Sotomayor-Cox
engagement is told

A summer wedding is being planned by Sandra Sotomayor and Richard Allen Cox whose engagement is announced by her parents, Miguel and Faye Sotomayor of 12498 Beck Rd., Belleville.

A Belleville High School graduate, Miss Sotomayor attended Eastern Michigan University and is now planning a career in cosmetology.

The prospective bridegroom, who resides at 3644 Packmoor Village Dr., Colorado Spring, Colo., is the son of Neal and Velma Cox of Spraggs, Pa. He attended Penn State University and graduated from West Virginia University with a landscape architecture degree. He is self-employed at the Richard James Company in Colorado.

The young couple have reserved the First United Methodist Church of Belleville for their August 7 altar date.

MISS SOTOMAYOR

Reid, and several friends who set up the first golf course in Yonkers, New York. They came to be called the Apple Tree Gang because their third course, laid out in 1892, was through a 34-acre apple orchard.

The game itself dates back at least to the 14th century, however, and no one is quite certain where it started. As the American People's Encyclopedia discreetly puts it, the game is "probably of Dutch origin, but generally identified with Scotland."

The idea that it started in Holland derives from the theory that the word "golf" came from the Dutch word, "kolf", meaning a club for hitting balls. A more recent theory, however, traces golf to the Scottish word "gowf", meaning "to strike." (Take your pick.)

TEE TIME

St. Peter and St. Thomas were playing golf one heavenly afternoon and St. Peter's first drive was a hole-in-one. St. Thomas stepped to the tee and also scored a hole-in-one.

"All right, now," said St. Peter, "let's cut out the miracles and play golf!"

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TAUREANS

We're still under the sign of the bull, as zodiac terms go, and even though most people don't take astrology too seriously, I'll bet there aren't many who pass up a horoscope column if it comes their way. So, these little additions to "potpourri" are more or less "fun" bits and can give you something to credit or blame your traits on.

Those born between April 20 and May 20 (and let's take the ladies first) have the kind of strength, courage and stamina that will take them anywhere. In matters of love, they are monogamous, honest, forthright and hate to be toyed with. Emotionally, they are much more sensitive than they appear and have a way of hiding their vulnerability behind a carefully controlled exterior.

However, they have a special habit of blaming others for their own worst faults and often inflict on them the punishment of silence. If they walk into a closed door, for instance, it's the door's fault for being there (that sort of thing.)

They are women of many resources and because of their do-it-their self attitude, people close to them depend on them for durability in the face of severe difficulties. They have a tendency to remain unruffled, regardless of the seriousness of any situation but at the same time are very feminine. But -- they are habit-bound and probably have never tried any ice cream flavor other than vanilla or worn any color of nail polish but pink (in 38 different flavors, er-ah -- shades.)

And you raging bulls out there, here's what the experts have to say about you! You know how to make money -- and keep it. You, too, are strong, steadfast, sincere and practical and close friends know they can depend on you in any situation. But woe to those who disappoint you since you can cut them out of your life almost as easily as you can include them.

In love, you tend to be a romantic, but not one with his head in the clouds. As a husband, you are loyal, very loving and have the kind of strength a woman can lean on but -- you are very possessive.

You tend, too, to be grabby, are just a bit miserly, and have a way of getting stuck in a rut and living a too-routine life.

And if you guys and gals are celebrating this week, you're in the company of Candice Bergen (Charlie McCarthy's sister), who was 36 May 9 and Glenda Jackson who was 10 years older the same day.

Fred Astaire and Nancy Walker claim May 10 as their natal date and marked their 83rd and 61st years, respectively.

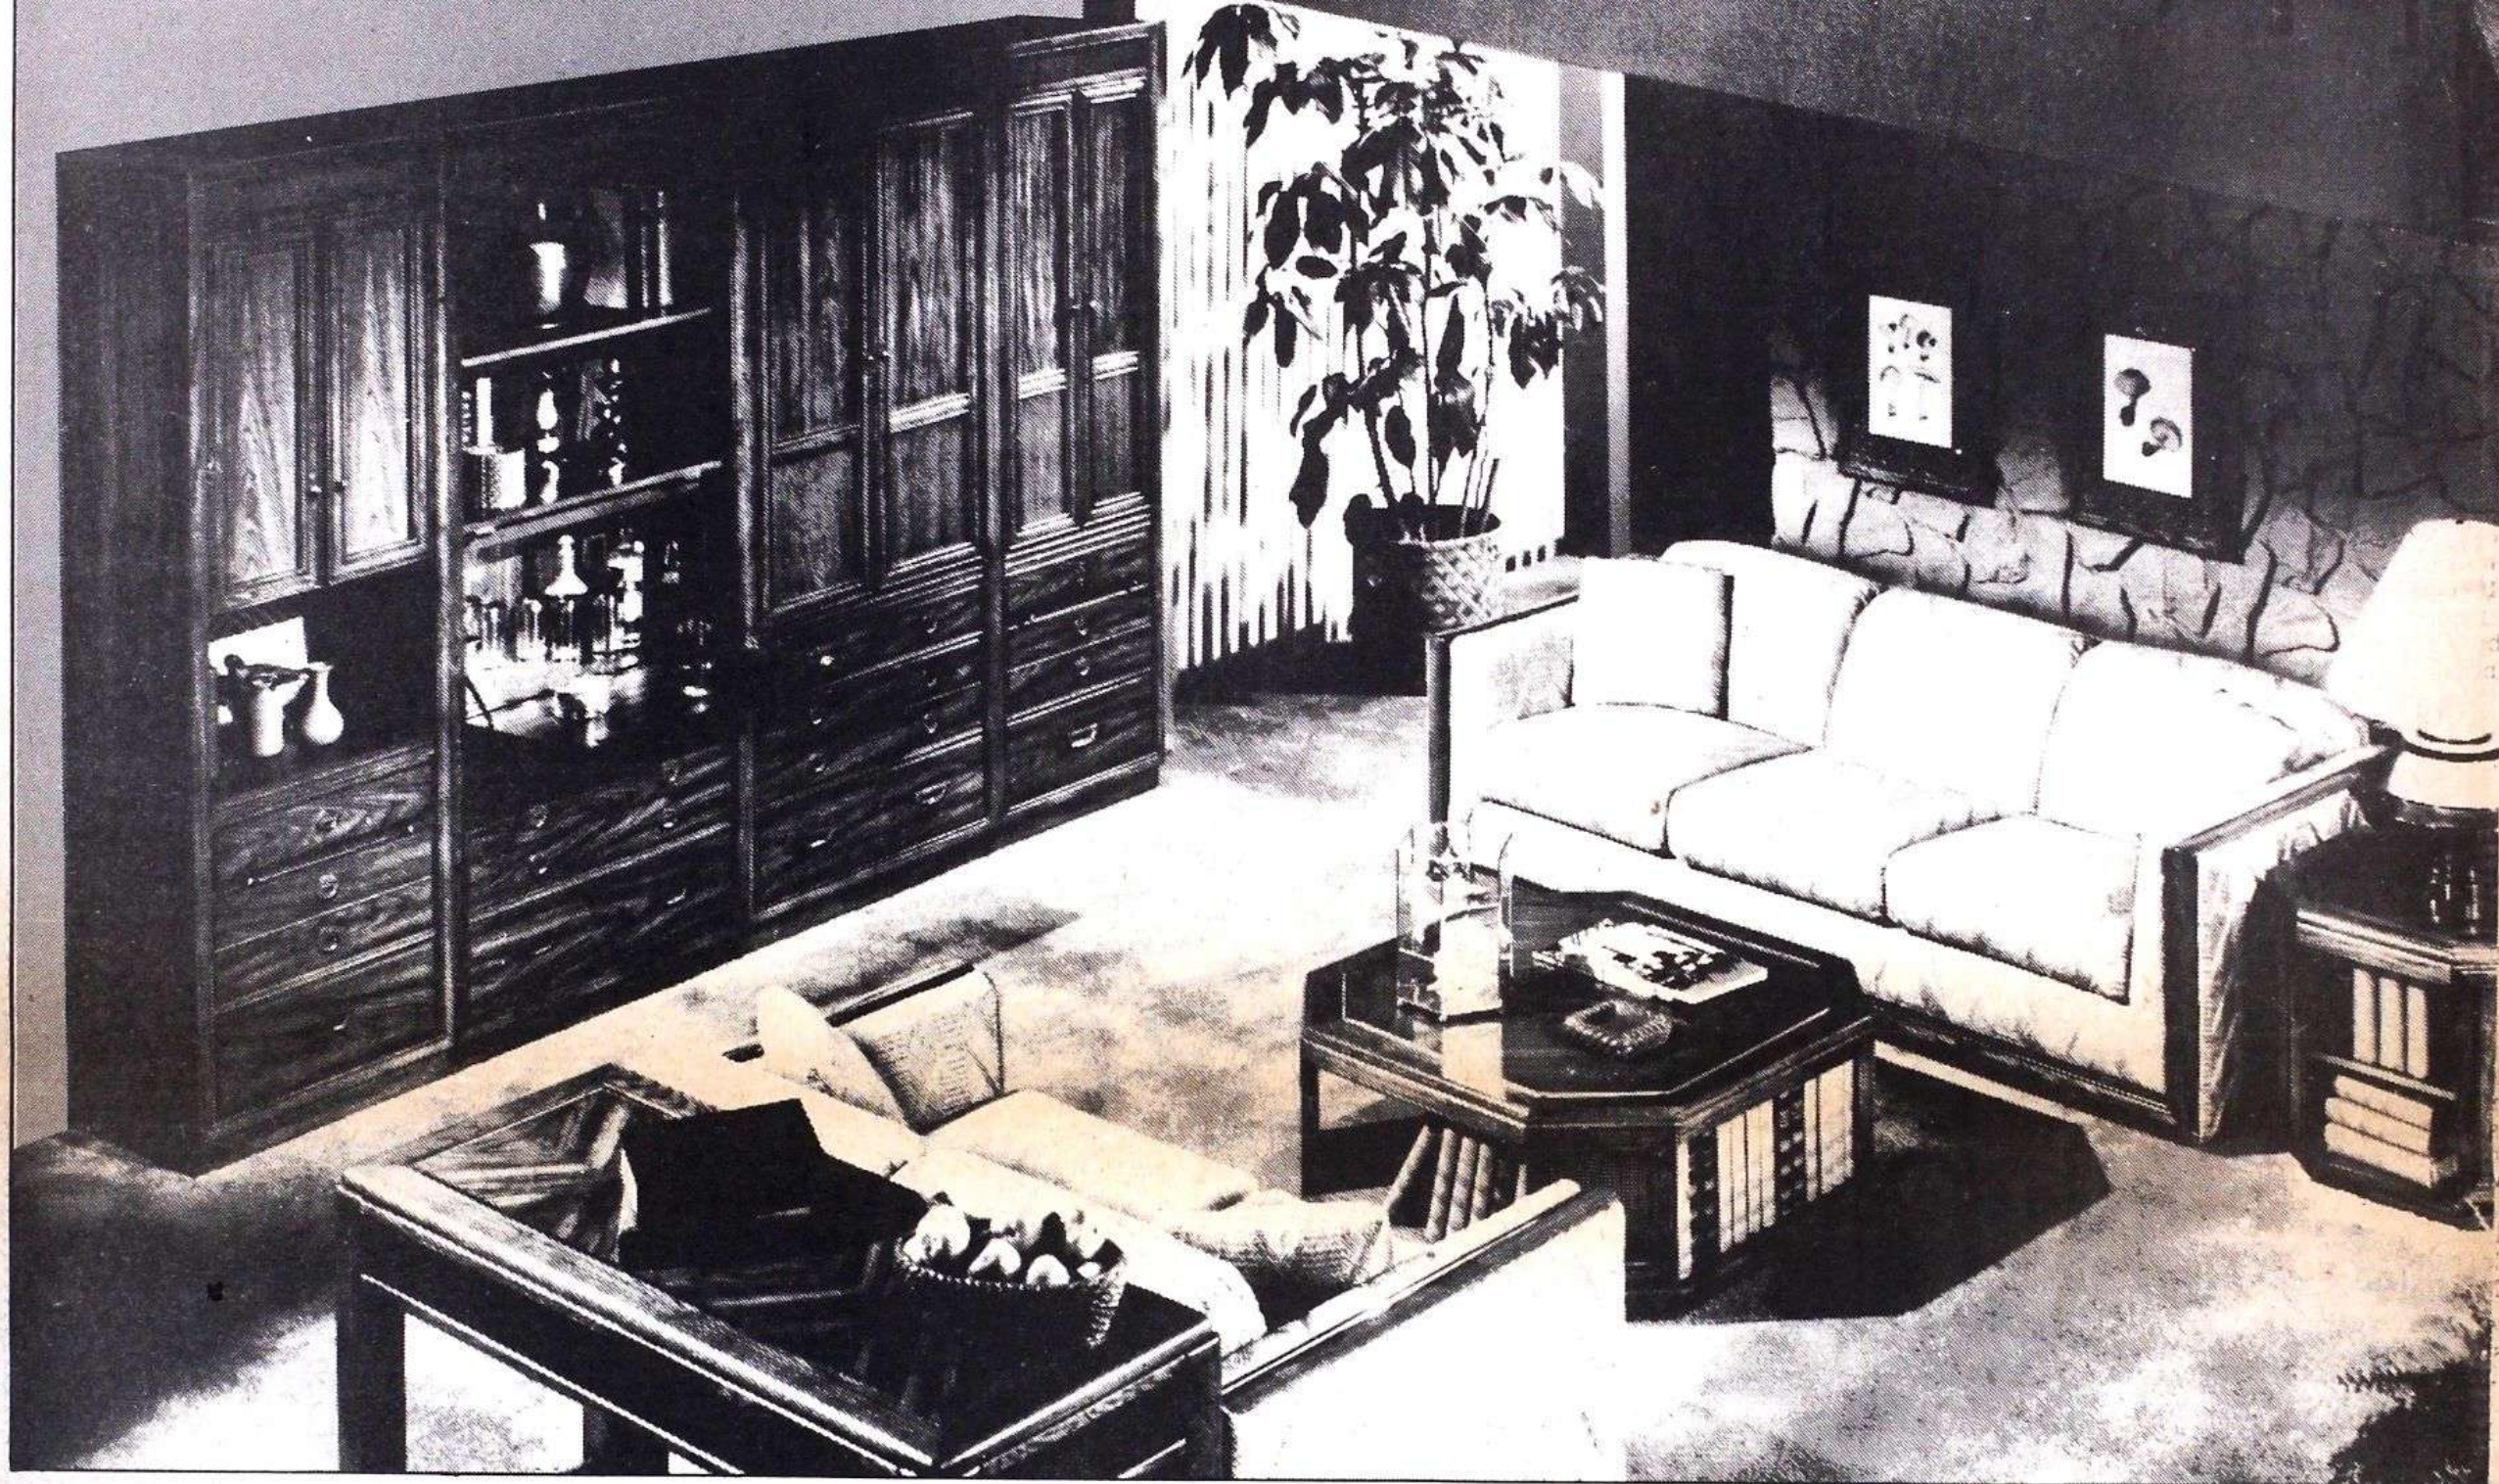

Cake and ice cream day on May 11 belongs to Martha Graham who danced her way to 88; Doug McClure, who galloped to 44, and Phil (Sgt. Bilko) Silvers, who commanded his way to year 70.

We couldn't find anyone to keep him company so Tom Snyder is our lone birthday celebrity today, May 12. He's 46.

Tomorrow Bea (Maude) Arthur will chalk up number 56 and Stevie Wonder will be 32 and the quintet on the 15th includes Anna Maria Alberghetti who will be 46; Eddie Arnold, 64; Joseph Cotten, 77; James Mason, 73; and Trini Lopez, 45.

THE BOTTOM LINE: One of the easiest ways to become popular is to remember the nice things folks say about a person, and repeat them to him.

New on the scene

James Ryan Stasak

The birth of their first child, a baby boy, is being announced by Jim and Sheila Stasak of 15665 Sandburg, Romulus. The new heir, who was titled "James Ryan", is being called Jamie.

Arriving at 10:04 a.m. April 25 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, the infant weighed 7 lbs. - 5½ ozs. and measured 20½ inches. The newest addition to the family tree of Romulus Mayor and Mrs. William Oakley, Jamie is their second grandchild. Paternal grandparents, who reside in Cocoa Beach, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Steve Stasak.

Great-grandparents receiving the stork announcement include Mrs. Josephine Oakley of Romulus; Mrs. Dora Barney of Uniontown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. John Stasak of New Kensington, Pa. and James Barney of La Grange, Ga.

The new mother is the former Sheila Oakley.

Robert Conn IV

Garden City residents Bob and Cindy Conn of 31216 Pardo are proudly announcing the birth of their first child, a son, on May 3 at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

Titled "Robert Conn IV", the newcomer's statistics were recorded at 6 lbs. - 14 ozs. and 21 inches.

Putting in his appearance at two in the afternoon, young Robert is the second grandchild for Bill and Flo Hudge of Oldsmar, Fla., formerly of Belleville, and the first for Bob and Marie Conn of Ann Arbor.

Great-grandparents hearing the news included Walt and Marie Hess of Lake Wales, Fla. and Lela Conn of Ann Arbor. The infant is also the great-grandson of the late Viola Burns, a one-time Belleville resident. His mom is the former Cindy Hudge.

Tara Jessica Sutfin

Things have taken on a pink glow at the Belleville home of Roy and Nicolette Sutfin of 10947 Buchanan, Belleville, since the arrival of their new daughter, Tara Jessica.

Making her debut May 1 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor at 8:03 a.m., the infant weighed 6 lbs. - 9 ozs. and measured 20 inches in length.

The couple's first child, Tara is the granddaughter of Mrs. Beatrice Lazar of Ferndale and L. T. Sutfin of Glen Fork, Ky.

The new mother is the former Nicolette Lazar.

Brett Michael Bodenmiller

Brett Michael is the name chosen for the new son born May 4 to Gary and Diane Bodenmiller of Newark, Calif., formerly of Belleville.

Putting in his appearance at 2:30 a.m. at Kaiser Hospital in Hayward, Calif., the new heir weighed 6 lbs. - 4 ozs. and measured 20½ inches.

Helping to look in on her new baby brother these mid-spring days is little Jennifer Bodenmiller who turned two in March.

The children's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hill of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bodenmiller of Belleview, Fla. Great-grandparent honors go to Mr. and Mrs. William Hennells of Belleville and Winter Haven, Fla.

Brett's mother is the former Diane Hill.

Stephen Victor Ziemba

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Ziemba of Castle Drive, Canton, became parents of a baby boy on April 25 at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn.

The six pound - eight ounce, who measured 20½ inches, was named Stephen Victor and is the couple's first child.

He is the fourth grandchild of Ray and Gloria Henry of Belleville and the first for Victor and Shirley Ziemba of Farmington Hills.

Stephen's proud great-grandparents include the Stephen Prohaskas of Detroit; Mrs. Jane Ziemba of Farmington Hills; the William Gassers of McKenzie, Tenn.; the Walter Grosses of Union Lake and Frances Gross of Dearborn Heights.

Wayne's defense crumbles as Ypsi wins

Zebras remain in thick of Great Lakes 8 title battle

The sun shone brilliantly on Saturday, unfortunately not on Wayne Memorial.

Ypsilanti erupted for five runs in each of the final two innings to stun Wayne 13-5 in the second game of a doubleheader after rallying to a 6-4 victory over the Zebras in the opener.

"It was a beautiful day to play ball," said Coach Jim Chronowski. "Unfortunately, we left our defense at home."

Wayne committed five crucial errors in the 6-4 loss as Eric Shultz was tagged with the defeat. He lasted seven innings, gave up nine hits, struck out five and walked six. Todd Irwin got the victory with relief help from Russ Kincaid.

Wayne grabbed a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the second as Ted Blazer and Lloyd Phipps each drilled singles with one-away. Then, Matt Korte laid down a bunt single to load the bases. Chuck Sayan's bunt produced the tying run, and John Novick's sacrifice fly put the Zebras up 2-1.

But the Braves came back for three runs in the sixth to take a brief 5-2 lead. In the bottom of that inning, Wayne struck for two runs on a walk to Rod Harmon, a single by Novich and a passed ball. Then, Don Vojtkowski singled in one run and Wayne got the second tally when Irwin unleashed a wild pitch.

For five innings Wayne and Ypsi staged an excellent battle before the proverbial sky fell in on the Zebras. Ypsi scored five times in the sixth, then buried their non-conference rivals with another five in the seventh to hand Pete Foley the setback.

Wayne managed to pad its Great Lakes 8 Conference record to 2-3 (they're 7-9 overall) at the expense of Taylor Truman. Tied 12-all at the end of the regulation seven innings, Wayne got the winning run in the bottom of the eighth as senior catcher Bill Duncan singled, moved to second on a balk and scored with Korte's single.

Korte received the victory in relief of Jim Newsome, who worked the third inning until the sixth.

Taylor had piled up with what appeared to be an insurmountable lead (8-0) after the first two innings, but Wayne soared back with two runs in the fourth, eight more in the fifth, then tied it with a two-run surge in the bottom of the seventh after Truman grabbed a 12-10 advantage.

Vojtkowski had an excellent day at the plate as he latched on to three hits, including a double and scored three times; Phil Kaskie also laced a pair of hits, while Duncan finished with a single and doubled and scored three times.

A last of the seventh run lifted Wayne and Korte to a 4-3 victory over Taylor Center in another conference game last week.

Wayne scored three times in the first inning as Vojtkowski sliced a single and advanced to center on the leftfielder's throwing error. Kaskie then singled, scoring Vojtkowski. A second error allowed Browe to get aboard and Duncan also was safe on an infield miscue, loading the bases for Blazer who belted a two-run single.

Taylor came back with single runs in the third and fifth to tie the score at 3-all, and in the bottom of the seventh Wayne stashed the verdict away as Browe singled home Vojtkowski, who had singled, moved to second on Kaskie's sacrifice.

Wide-open title race

Who's on first in Northwest?

Who's on first in the Northwest Suburban Baseball Conference?

That's a good question but, after the first round of competition, the title race remains mute as rains, rescheduled games and upsets keep the teams and coaches guessing.

Livonia Franklin, which knocked off Westland John Glenn, 9-3, remained in the thick of the title battle as Coach Gerry Cullin's Patriots have amassed a 3-2 record.

"Right now, with all the make-up games, it's anyone's guess who'll take it this year," Cullin added.

Mark Fussner survived a three-run seventh inning John Glenn rally to pick up the 9-3 triumph over Mike Dest and the Westlanders. Fussner had the defending league cochamps shut out until the final frame when Rocket bats came alive thanks to John Paz and Jim Watts who each drilled doubles for the game.

Fussner fanned four and walked one, while Dest, who also went the distance, whiffed five but gave up six bases on balls. Darrel Gagnon got to the Westland hurler for three hits and a pair of runs batted in while Rich Popp picked up a triple and single, and Mike Minieli accounted for three RBI's and one of his team's nine hits.

Franklin split a doubleheader on Saturday with out-of-conference rival, Utica Ford, winning the opener 2-0 on homers by Mike Williamson and Chris Lewis, but dropping the nightcap 7-2.

Rich Wood, who worked the first three innings, gave up three hits, fanned three and walked one, was the winning pitcher. He was relieved by Bill Haynes, who finished up.

Ford got to starter and loser Tim Hunt for four runs in the first inning of the second game before Coach Gullin decided on a pitching change, inserting Fussner in to hush Ford's bats.

The loss dipped Franklin's record to 9-7 on the season.

In a rematch against cross-town archrivals, Stevenson, Franklin emerged atop of a 2-1 count. Last week the Patriots trounced Stevenson 10-1 in the championship game of the Walt Cosen Memorial Tournament.

Bob Capciac held on for 6 2/3 innings, struck out 5, walked two while pitching a five-hitter for the victory. Tom Porter was the loser. He was tagged for seven hits, fanned three while walking one.

Franklin scored what proved to be the decisive run in the bottom of the sixth when Wood led off with a single and advanced to second on a bad throw. Popp singled him home.

Stevenson had tied the game at 1-all in the top of the sixth, erasing Franklin's slim lead. The Patriots tilted the scoreboard in the third when Williamson singled, and raced to second on an error. He was chased home with Ken Aguzzi's base hit.

Shaffer's big hit at Saginaw

Third baseman Jane Shaffer of Saginaw Valley State College has been named Great Lakes Conference Softball Player-of-the-Week for the week of April 25 through May 1.

In SVSC's two-game sweep over Hillsdale Saturday, the junior out of Cabrini High School slugged four hits in seven trips to the plate, scored five runs and added one RBI. For the week, Shaffer totaled nine hits, seven runs, three doubles and six RBI as the Cards posted a 4-2 mark.

"Jane's hitting has come on really strong lately," said SVSC coach Sue Guevara. "She's come up with key hits in games where we've needed them."

The two-time All-Conference catcher is having her finest season for SVSC after moving to the hot-corner, hitting .500 in GLIAC play. Shaffer is the daughter of Mrs. Marguerite Shaffer of Romulus.

Second best at world qualifying tourney

Sporting an over-all 11-2 won-lost record, Westland's Joe Thomas emerged from the Snyder's Softball Tournament held in Ypsilanti with a second place and a pair of trophies. The tournament was a world qualifying meet, with the winner earning eligibility for the prestigious Labor Day weekend world invitational. That right went to Hadley's of East Detroit which defeated the local club 10-7 and 5-3 in the finals. Joe Tho-

Inkster runner sets pace at Western

Michelle Smith of Inkster, a freshman on Western Michigan University's women's track team, turned in a first-place performance in the 400-meter hurdles for the Broncos last week at Eastern Michigan University's Invitational at Ypsilanti.

The Wayne Memorial High grad won with a time of 1:03.2. She also ran on WMU's 1,600-meter relay team which finished fourth.

The Broncos are coached by Debbie Hunt.

Canton sweeps 2 from Belleville

Tiger bats are silenced

Belleville's bats have suddenly gone silent. And softball coach Peggy Curtis doesn't have an explanation.

"The pitching is there, in fact, it's been excellent, but you can't win softball games if you don't get people on the bases," Coach Curtis moaned.

Belleville managed to get one hit—a fourth inning single by Michelle LaMance—as Canton's Mary Aiken shut out the Tigers 2-0 in the opening game of a doubleheader on Saturday. Canton swept the series 3-1 behind winning pitcher Joan Carpenter's five-hitter.

Soph Judy Wisniewski was the victim in the opener despite her sterling pitching effort. She gave up a stingy three hits, fanned four and walked two in digesting the loss.

"She did her job," said Coach Curtis referring to Wisniewski. "We just didn't help her."

Canton scored in the opening inning, then collected an insurance run in the sixth for the victory.

In the second game, the Chiefs erupted for three runs in the second while Carpenter gathered "goose eggs" until the last of the sixth when she yielded the run that ruined her bid for a shutout. Theresa Byrne started the Belleville rally when she singled, stole second then raced home when Debbie Stull singled.

Belleville failed to capitalize on two excellent scoring situations in their 3-1 loss to Trenton in a Suburban 8 Conference game last week. The Tigers managed to load the bases in the first and seventh frames but didn't cash in.

Trenton tagged Wisniewski for the loss, making good on five hits for runs in the fourth and sixth innings. Wisniewski notched four strikeouts and walked one, while winner Adrienne Miller walked seven and whiffed one.

In another conference duel, Belleville struck for five runs in the first inning and hung on to edge Plymouth Salem 7-5 for its fourth win in six Suburban Conference starts. The victory vaulted the Tigers into a 2-way tie for third with Salem.

Wisniewski picked up the victory, firing a six-hitter. The Tigers were on the board with five runs in the first frame thanks to a single by Jill Pence who then proceeded to steal second and third. Ann Plaza got aboard on an error, then with runners on second and third, Kim Thick and Birgette Stoltz each stroked singles, driving in a run apiece, while LaMance singled in another while Stull also singled, bringing home the last run of the inning.

Salem came back and scored three in the fourth and one in the fifth to tie it up at 5-all, but the Tigers broke the knot for good as Thick led off the fifth with a single, went to second as Stoltz also singled. Stull was safe on an error, allowing one run to score and Byrne singled in the second run to clinch the victory.

Thick accounted for three (for four trips to the plate) of her team's nine hits.

Taylor Center 'awesome'

Wayne running for 2nd place

Although they consider themselves out of the title race, Wayne Memorial figures they will pick up their share of gold medals at what could be the final Great Lakes 8 Conference track & field championships.

The league, which presently has seven members, will be reorganized next year with some area teams such as Ypsilanti, Dearborn, and Edsel Ford contemplating on realignment with the Great Lakes 8. Taylor Center appears to be the inside favorite to claim the final "8" crown.

"Taylor is awesome," said

Wayne Memorial track coach Floyd Carter. "They beat us by 30 points and I just don't see anyone touching them this year. They have depth and talent that could make them a state power."

Not only did Wayne lose to Taylor, the Zebras also dropped a heartbreaker to Monroe by six points, 69-63, leaving them holding a 5-3 over-all record on the year.

However, Wyandotte was no match for Carter's trackmen last Thursday. The local thinclads ran up a 101-31 victory over the hapless Bruins.

Driver eyes race title

Some fifty cars were on hand at Flat Rock Speedway's practice session Saturday afternoon, as drivers and crews prepared for the opening of the 1982 racing season at Flat Rock on Saturday, May 15.

All three defending Flat Rock track champs were at the practice session. Late Model champ Joy Fair of Pontiac displayed his '82 Firebird at the ¼ mile asphalt oval.

Figure 8 king Chuck Hall of Toledo unveiled a beautiful blue Camaro. Hall will be gunning for his 3rd consecutive Figure 8 title this season.

Reigning Street Stock champ Dan Leppen of Romulus was also testing his machine Saturday.

Best Appearing Car trophies from the Locker Room Sporting Goods of Taylor will be awarded for each division on opening night, May 15.

Many improvements have been made to the Flat Rock facility this season, as workers continue to put the finishing touches on the stands, buildings, and track.

The gates will open at 6:00, time trials start at 6:30, and racing begins at 8 p.m. The Speedway is located 1-mile south of Flat Rock on Telegraph Road (U.S. 24).

Nice going, fellows

Although she's new when it comes to sponsoring softball teams, Alberta Thomas (center) picked herself a winner when she decided to cast her softball lot with Joe Thomas' club. The team responded by winning one invitational tournament and finishing second in another, and team members presented the trophies to their favorite fan. Above, Mrs. Thomas accepts the glittering trophies from Coach Tom Tompkins (at left) and Dennis Finrock. The Westland-based ball club presently has won 11 of its 14 games in the city's Class A League.

A.L. umpire to visit VA hospital

ALLEN PARK — American League baseball umpire Larry Barnett will visit local hospitalized veterans at the Allen Park Veterans Administration Medical Center on May 14.

While at the hospital, Barnett will show film highlights of the 1981 World Series, which he helped umpire, tell stories and anecdotes about players and game situations and discuss baseball topics with the patients.

Barnett, who is sponsored by the national headquarters of the Disabled American Veterans, has made more than 200 stops at veterans' hospitals across the country.

The umpire has been visiting veterans since 1977, when he was moved by a blind patient who cried and asked him to stay a while longer.

"I feel warm inside when I leave a hospital," the 37-year-old Barnett said. "If I've made three veterans happy, I feel I've accomplished something important."

Softball deadline set

The Romulus Parks and Recreation Department has established a Fri., May 21 deadline for teams that wish to enter its annual Slow-Pitch Memorial Day Softball Tournament.

All entries must be in the parks and recreation offices by 5 p.m. May 21 to be considered for the tournament which will be composed of teams presently playing in or any newly-organized club.

Games will be played at Elmer Johnson Park in Romulus and there is a 32-team entry limit. A $100 per team entry fee which will cover the costs of officiating the games will be charged.

Further information about the tournament may be obtained by telephoning 941-0666, extension 254.

Parks are ready for Memorial sports

The four Huron-Clinton Metroparks in Wayne County are now ready for the Memorial holiday week-end starting Saturday, May 29.

LOWER HURON METROPARK — (1,239 acres) near Belleville has scenic parkway, 18-hole "Par 3" golf course, nature trails, several large picnic areas with tables, stoves, and shelters, playgrounds, shuffleboard courts, tot lot, food service, bathhouse and swimming pool. Swim hours on Saturday, Sunday and holidays are 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Monday through Friday are 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. until September 6. Charges are 75 cents per person, including heated showers and bathhouse. Patrons are required to shower before pool use. Coin-operated lockers for clothes-checking cost 25 cents. Lifeguards are on duty, but water safety is everyone's responsibility. Park hours are 6 a.m. to 10 p.m.

WILLOW METROPARK — (1,531 acres) between New Boston and Flat Rock has park roads, several large picnic areas with tables, stoves and shelters, playgrounds, woods, shorefishing and an 18-hole (full size) golf course. There are beautifully landscaped grounds, walks leading to 10 shuffleboard, 2 tennis and 4 basketball courts, large tot lot and food service at central plaza plus an olympic-sized swimming pool and bathhouse.

Swim hours on Saturday, Sunday and holidays are 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Monday thru Friday are 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. thru September 6. Charges are 75 cents per person, including heated showers and bathhouse. Patrons are required to shower before pool use. Coin-operated lockers for clothes-checking cost 25 cents. Lifeguards are on duty, but water safety is everyone's responsibility.

The Outdoor Dance Center will feature square dancing on Fridays (starting June 11), dancing to Detroit area bands on Saturdays (starting June 12) and a special program on the July 4th week-end, with Fireworks on Sunday, July 4.

OAKWOODS METROPARK (1,788 acres) is located 5 miles northwest of Flat Rock, provides a major interpretive area, including Nature Center, seasonal exhibits and nature trails for self-guided hikes. The Nature Center is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. week-ends and holidays and 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays. Summer hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

LAKE ERIE METROPARK (1,571 acres) is under development near Gibraltar and Rockwood. Presently it has limited facilities for picnicking, shorefishing, a wonderful view of Lake Erie, sanitary facilities, marina with a separate entrance, but no drinking water in the general park area. Hours are 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily. Development of this new Metropark is expected to continue over the next 10 to 15 years.

Picnic groups of 50 or more persons for these four Metroparks are requested to register in advance at the park office at Lower Huron Metropark — Phone 697-9181. Vehicle entry permits are required (Annual: regular - $7, senior citizen - $2 or daily - $2).

Irresponsibility breeds pets ...too many pets

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

In 1981 more than 70,000 stray and unwanted animals were brought into the three shelters operated by the Michigan Humane Society in the tri-county area. More than 50,000 never left. They were victims of overpopulation and human irresponsibility.

To look at those two statistics, one might wonder how the society can call itself humane. However, Kathy Blauet, manager of the society's Kindness Shelter in Westland, believes that if an animal has two choices — to try and make it on its own in a hostile environment or to be put to sleep by a shot of sodium phenobarbital — the latter is the humane way.

"We're not breeding animals here," Ms. Blauet pointed out. "They're brought here by irresponsible pet owners."

Pets, more specifically animals, are in the limelight this week, as the United States observes Be Kind to Animals Week, the oldest such designated week in the nation.

During this week, the Humane Society is busy, prosecuting cases of cruelty to animals, sterilizing at low cost, rescuing sick and injured animals and actively preaching the concept of sensitivity and respect for all life.

In short, the society is doing what it does the other 51 weeks of the year in hopes people will realize that animals are not dumb, unfeeling creatures, but rather that they have a right to be treated in a humane, loving manner and not used for experiments or exploitation.

The goal of the society is to prevent animals from suffering needlessly and to educate the public on proper pet care and the tragedy of the pet overpopulation problem.

It maintains three shelters — in Detroit, Pontiac and Westland — with its emergency rescue van going wherever needed, although housed at the Detroit shelter. All three sites maintain full-time veterinary clinics, making medical attention available to anyone from the richest to the poorest persons.

Its education department works to educate the unknowing, the public, while its cruelty investigation department handles all cruelty complaints, logging 3,000 cases a year with a 99 percent conviction rate.

While the Westland Shelter tries to place as many animals as it can in good homes, 80 percent of those brought in each year are, in fact, put to sleep.

Of the 20 percent adopted rest assured that they are not placed in just any home. Prospective pet owners must fill out a questionnaire about their adoption, and those looking for animals, for a specific purpose, such as a hunting dog or watch dog, might find the shelter isn't the place to look.

"Owning a pet is a 10- to 12-year commitment," Ms. Blauet said. "That animal is a living being, and a big responsibility goes along with having that animal."

On a good day the center matches pets with 20 prospective owners, but on the average, only five pets a day are placed in good homes.

While the shelter is strict with who can adopt an animal, its workers also are direct and to the point with pet owners who bring in their unwanted animals or litters of puppies and kittens.

Pets brought into the shelter are evaluated and their owners are informed if they are adopted. If not, the owners are given the option of keeping their pets. In a majority of cases, the pet is still left at the shelter.

While that portrays some pet owners as callous, Ms. Blauet admits many a tearful separation takes place at the shelter, when pet owners have no other choice but to bring the animal in.

"Some people get rid of their pet like it's a disposable item," she added. "A lot of the abuse is ignorance on the part of the pet owner. They just don't know better. Some people just don't care. However, that's not to say that there isn't a lot of heartache here."

Ms. Blauet, who has worked at the shelter for seven years, said the work can be frustrating at times, but does see the public's attitude changing as they become more aware of the overpopulation problem.

"I think people out there realize we're doing something about the problem," she explained. "It's been preached enough that people are more aware and want to do something about it."

"Twenty million pets and animals are put to sleep in the United States every year because there are not enough homes for the number of animals there are. Even if we kept every animal that came through our door, there would never be enough homes."

What Ms. Blauet and the other workers at the shelter hope is that during BKA Week, the public will consider the role of companion animals play in our lives and reflect on how they affect us and we affect them.

Maybe then a litter of puppies won't have to face certain death because they were born and there were no homes for them.

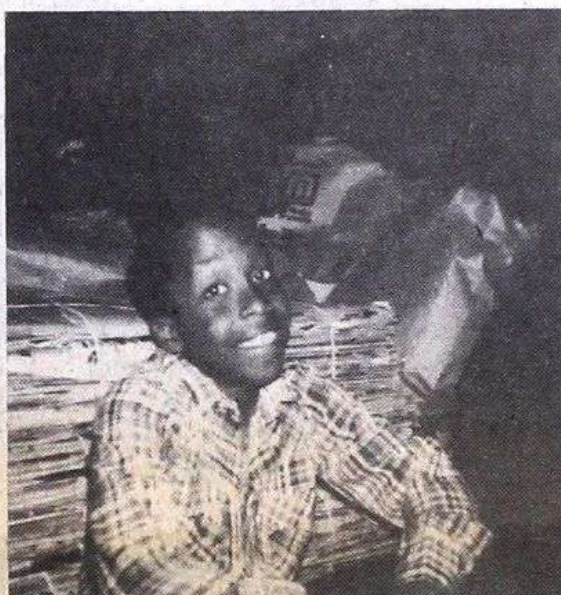

Belleville South posts Honor Roll

Twenty-eight students, including 14 from the seventh grade, earned straight A grades during the second semester at Belleville South Junior High School, according to the school officials who released the "Honor Roll" this week.

Those who reached the all "A" plateau in the seventh grade are: Lori Alexander, Jennifer Amprim, Trisha Bose, Sherry Collino, Sheila Dumont, Robert Ferrett, Karen Kotlarczyk, Krista McArthur, Tracy McCormick, Iris McLeod, Martann Paroski, Dana Stypeloski, Bridgett Suttles and Dina Traskos. Eighth graders who claimed the coveted all "A" grades included: John Copeland, Theresa Garascia, Darryl Goodwin, Dale Farmer, Angela Leonard, Lisa McNeil and Bruce Nigg. Also with perfect grades are Thomas White and Ruth Wolf.

Five students represented the ninth grade with straight A's. They are: Lynette Babik, Virgie Bright, Mark Melidosian, Tina Samsel and Audrea Wilcox.

Recycled

In an effort to make students at Rawsonville Elementary School in Belleville more aware of their part in the ecological cycle, teacher Cathy Walter and her third-fourth grade students initiated a paper drive to recognize "Recycling Week". Through the combined efforts of the staff, student council, student body and parents, a paper drive was launched and it turned out to be a huge success. Pictured with a radiant smile is Andre Brantley, a fifth grader who assisted in the project and helped save natural resources while lessening the waste problem.

Local man top SENTRY salesman

Stephen J. Kuchta, of Belleville has recently returned from Washington, D.C. where he participated in a Sales Leaders conference of SENTRY's top sales representatives.

Kuchta is a local sales representative for SENTRY and qualified for the conference through high standards in sales and customer service activity during 1981. The group represented the top 11 percent of SENTRY's direct sales force.

Romulus' Troy Nelson enlists in U.S. Navy

Troy Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson of 35650 Herman, Romulus, recently enlisted in the Navy's Delayed Entry Program, according to Navy Petty Officer T.L. Hauter of the Navy Recruiting Station in Garden City.

Troy enlisted for the Seaman Apprenticeship Program, with a West Coast guarantee.

Young men intrigued by the lure of the sea may ask for and be guaranteed sea duty for their first assignment if they enlist in the seaman option. And they can choose which coast they would prefer to ship out of. Sea duty is also available to women in the seaman option, but because of limited at-sea facilities for women there's no guarantee they will receive an immediate shipboard assignment. The Navy makes every effort to send its people where they want to go.

Seaman apprentice training leads into the largest group of job specialties, such as deck, ordnance, administration and electronics ratings.

Troy is a senior at Romulus High School. He will report for active duty on 2 September 1982, at which time he will attend basic training. The Navy's Delayed Entry Program, according to Petty Officer Hauter, allows an individual to enlist in the Navy and not report for active duty for up to twelve months. "This program gives the individual time to take care of any unfinished business he might have," he said. "That could mean finishing school, taking care of family matters, or just giving that person time to relax, knowing he has a secure job ahead." Troy has taken advantage of the Delayed Entry Program, to finish high school.

Petty Officer Hauter says that anyone desiring information concerning the many career and educational opportunities available in today's Navy can either see him at the Navy Recruiting Station in Garden City at 28233 Ford Rd., or phone (313) 525-7580.

Pvt. William D. Sands, son of Donald R. Sands Sr. of 19500 Huron River Drive, and Ilene M. Sands of 29109 Van Born, both of New Boston, Mich., has also completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

He is a 1981 graduate of Huron High School, New Boston.

Army Pvt. John H. Steinhardt Jr., son of John H. and Joanne Steinhardt of 6690 Niagara, Romulus, has completed training as an Army military police specialist under the one station unit training (OSUT) program at Fort McClellan, Ala.

OSUT is a 13-week period which combines basic training with advanced individual training.

Students were trained in civil and military law, traffic control, map reading and self-defense.

Pvt. Chester A. Idol, son of Chester G. and Elizabeth Idol of 23604 Matts Drive, Romulus, has arrived for duty in Augsburg, West Germany.

Idol, an ammunitions handler with the 1st Battalion, 18th Field Artillery, was previously assigned at Fort Dix, N.J.

He is a 1977 graduate of Trenton High School.

Joseph Rohde III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rohde of 28255 Goddard, Romulus, enlisted in the Navy's Delayed Entry Program, according to Navy Petty Officer T.L. Hauter of the Navy Recruiting Station in Garden City.

Joseph enlisted for four years with guaranteed training as an Aviation Electrician's Mate. He will be attending Great Lakes Naval Recruit Training Center for his basic training.

After Recruit Training he will attend Aviation Electrician's Mate school. There are three phases to this school. All three are located at Memphis, Tenn.

PROPOSED NOTICE OF ADOPTION CITY OF ROMULUS

Notice of Adoption
Revised Zoning Ordinance
Romulus City Council

Notice is hereby given that the City Council, in accordance with Act 207, of the Public Acts of 1921, as amended, adopted a revised zoning ordinance on the 27th day of April, 1982.

SUMMARY OF REGULATORY EFFECT

The entire text of the 1971 Zoning Ordinance has been reviewed, and many sections have been revised. The revisions represent important changes for regulating the use and development of land within the City of Romulus.

In summary, several modifications were made to better organize and clarify the language of the text and to bring the City's Ordinance into compliance with the requirements of the recently amended zoning enabling legislation for cities, Michigan Public Act 207 of 1921, as amended by Michigan Public Act 638 of 1978.

No zoning district boundaries, as indicated on the Official Zoning Map of the City of Romulus, are proposed for change, however, a new large-lot, single-family residential district, RE-Rural Estate, has been added to the list of zoning districts, while another district has been deleted, AG-Agriculture. Other changes from the existing Zoning Ordinance include the following: procedures and standards for uses subject to special approval have been established; landscaping requirements for new or improved development and for parking areas have been set forth; industrial performance compliance procedures have been detailed; and the procedures and requirements for imposing performance guarantees have been established; lot width and area requirements in the R-1A Single-Family District have been modified; two-family dwellings are permitted in Single-Family Districts under limited conditions; air freight forwarders are specifically regulated; clarification of Board of Appeals procedures and responsibilities have been made.

A copy of the Final Draft Revision of the Zoning Ordinance may be inspected or purchased between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday at the offices of the City Clerk, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan.

Hemorrhoids: The jeep driver's disease

Editor's Note: Dr. Ernest Sorini is chief of Emergency Room Services at Ann Arbor Hospital in Wayne. He did his internship and residency at the University of Utah Medical Center and has been in emergency medicine for five years. If you have questions for Dr. Sorini contact him care of Associated Newspapers Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184).

By DR. ERNEST SORINI

Hemorrhoids are like the weather. Everybody talks about them; very few people understand them; and when they are bad, they are terrible.

Hemorrhoids used to be called Jeep driver's disease, much to the chagrin of American Motors Corp.

In any event, there is some evidence to suggest that prolonged sitting in one position can lead to the development of hemorrhoids.

If this is in fact the case, in the 1990s hemorrhoids may come to be known as astronaut's disease.

Some people have attributed the development of hemorrhoids to sitting on cold, hard things for a long time.

However, clinical studies in this area have been very scarce due largely to the unwillingness of volunteers to sit for any length of time on a block of ice sporting only their birthday suits and a morbid curiosity as to the etiology of hemorrhoids.

Suffice it to say that both the Jeep and the block of ice have been temporarily exonerated as causes of hemorrhoids, although General Motors still contends that the Jeep is the leading cause of wars.

Hemorrhoids, by and large, are a pain. They are also in a very out of the way place which makes it difficult for anyone to study them properly. Suffice it to say that although we don't know what causes most cases of hemorrhoids we do know that a hemorrhoid is simply a dilated, enlarged vein, right in the stream of things so to speak.

And when logs come floating down the stream (so to speak, of course) these little veins kick up one heck of a fuss. They hurt; they bleed; they beg for mercy. Sitting down becomes as difficult as licking honey off a thorn. Unlike their similarity to the weather, there is something we can do about hemorrhoids. Softening the stool with laxatives and stool softeners serves to decrease the mechanical irritation of the enlarged vein.

The use of topical cortisone and witch hazel suppositories usually controls the swelling and inflammation. And topical anesthetics, similar to the ones your dentist uses before she works on your teeth, can also give dramatic, immediate improvement.

Finally, if all else fails to control the discomfort and bleeding over a long time, the hemorrhoids can be removed surgically. But please believe me — this is not a procedure to be taken lightly. For although I have never seen anybody die from a hemorrhoidectomy, I have seen people wish that both they and their surgeon could be struck dead on the first post-operative day, so great is the usual discomfort. It is kind of like inadvertently sitting on a box of discarded atomic bombs.

The bottom line is this — "Desperate application," in the words of Othello, should only be used to treat "diseases desperate grown," i.e., you don't kill a mosquito with a tommy gun when a fly swatter will do, especially if the mosquito happens to be sitting right in the middle of your expletive deleted.

It is important in life that you prepare for your death. This preparation is to make your death easier on your loved ones. Some of the things you should make ready are: a will, life insurance, a burial site and a list of your vital statistics. The latter will be used to fill in your death certificate.

Include in your list of vital statistics your: full name, permanent address, birth place, birth date, citizenship, occupation (former occupation if retired), employer, marital status, spouse's name and maiden name if female, father's name and birth place, mother's maiden name and birth place.

If a veteran then also include: name of war, rank, date and place enlisted, branch of service, "C" number, date and place discharged, service number, location of discharge papers.

Other helpful information to provide your loved ones is the location of important documents such as wills, deeds, insurance policies and trusts.

Also provide them with your social security number, your bank accounts, your safety deposit box number, which bank and the location of the key. Don't forget the real estate you own.

It is also important to note your attorney and your personal representative (formerly called executor).

Remember, it is easier on your relatives if this information is readily available. Make this list today, for you know not what tomorrow may bring forth.

Battle with MD ends for Tim Tomasik

Tim Tomasik knew what the common cold could do to him, but in spite of that knowledge, he kept re-assuring his mother he would, in fact, get well.

It was not to be the case for the 19-year-old Westland teen, who died April 28, a week short of his 20th birthday, of heart failure brought on by a cold and the result of his almost life-long battle with Muscular Dystrophy.

According to his mother, Mary, the teen died at 5:08 a.m. that day at Wayne County General Hospital after the cold he had contracted several weeks earlier had developed into pneumonia. "Tim touched a lot of people while he was here," said his mother. "He lived a very, very rich life, and although he was here only a short time, he apparently was here for a purpose."

As Tim saw it, that purpose was to raise money needed for research, because he knew that without the money there would be no cure for the degenerative muscle disease he had. Although the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation was his prime beneficiary, he also was "very dedicated to doing for his other friends" he had come to know while attending McGrath School.

Doctors first discovered Tim was afflicted by MD at age 5 and by age 8 he was confined to a wheelchair, although that didn't stop him from living life to the fullest. The 1980 graduate of John Glenn High School had planned on attending college to study consumer law, although those plans had been delayed for study during the warmer seasons to avoid contact with the cold.

However as the days went by so did Tim's dream of college. Prior to his death he was able to sit up only for short periods of time and had not been able to feed himself for several years. Tim, though, was not a person to give up or baby himself, and neither did his three brothers and one sister.

He was very active in his neighborhood and participated in the annual Walk for Mankind, sponsored by the Westland Jaycees, and the Polish League of American Veterans' polka-thon, of which he had been the mascot since 1974.

To benefit MD, Tim staged a garage sale and mini-jamboree with the help of the Jaycees, raising some $3,000 for "Jerry's kids," and his dedication won the hearts of CBers, who knew him by his handle, Big T.

An honorary member of the Garden City Moose, Tim also was honored for his dedication and named Westland's Outstanding Youth in 1975-76 by the Jaycees and a recipient of Congressman William D. Ford's Congressional Medal of Merit for Outstanding Youth.

So well known was he for his work, the teen garnered congratulatory cards from a mayor, a U.S. Congressman and a State Senator on his graduation from high school, recognition that his mother said gave Tim and his family "a good feeling."

Services for Tim were held through the L.G. Griffin Funeral Home of Westland, with a funeral Mass concelebrated by Fr. Dan Murphy and Fr. John La-Cass at St. Theodore Catholic Church. Interment was at Holy Sepulcher Cemetery, Southfield.

The teen is survived by his parents, Gerald and Mary; a sister, Susan Wright; three brothers, Tom, Terry and John, several nieces and nephews, and his grandmother, Nora.

You may renew driver's license by mail

Michigan motorists who are eligible to renew driver licenses by mail will begin receiving license renewal applications this week. Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, announced today.

To be eligible, motorists must have a clean driving record without points, convictions or accidents for the last four years, and must be under 71 years of age.

Approximately half of Michigan's 6.6 million drivers are expected to be eligible.

Austin said all eligible drivers will be notified 45 days before their present licenses expire. Driver's licenses expire on birthdays. Drivers who are not eligible to renew by mail will be instructed to visit a branch office for renewal.

A new law, effective June 15, permits the Department of State to renew licenses by mail for one time only. Renewing licenses by mail is expected to save an estimated $500,000 annually, Austin said.
